What books you'll read, how much you'll learn.
How long you'll toil today.
And will you straightway walk or turn,

HOOVER HIGH SCHOOL

How much for any goal worthwile
Of strength you'll care to pay,
To walk or not that extra mile
Is left to you to say.

Will you the burden bear or drop,
And will you flee or stay,
And where along the road you'll stop
Is left for you to say.

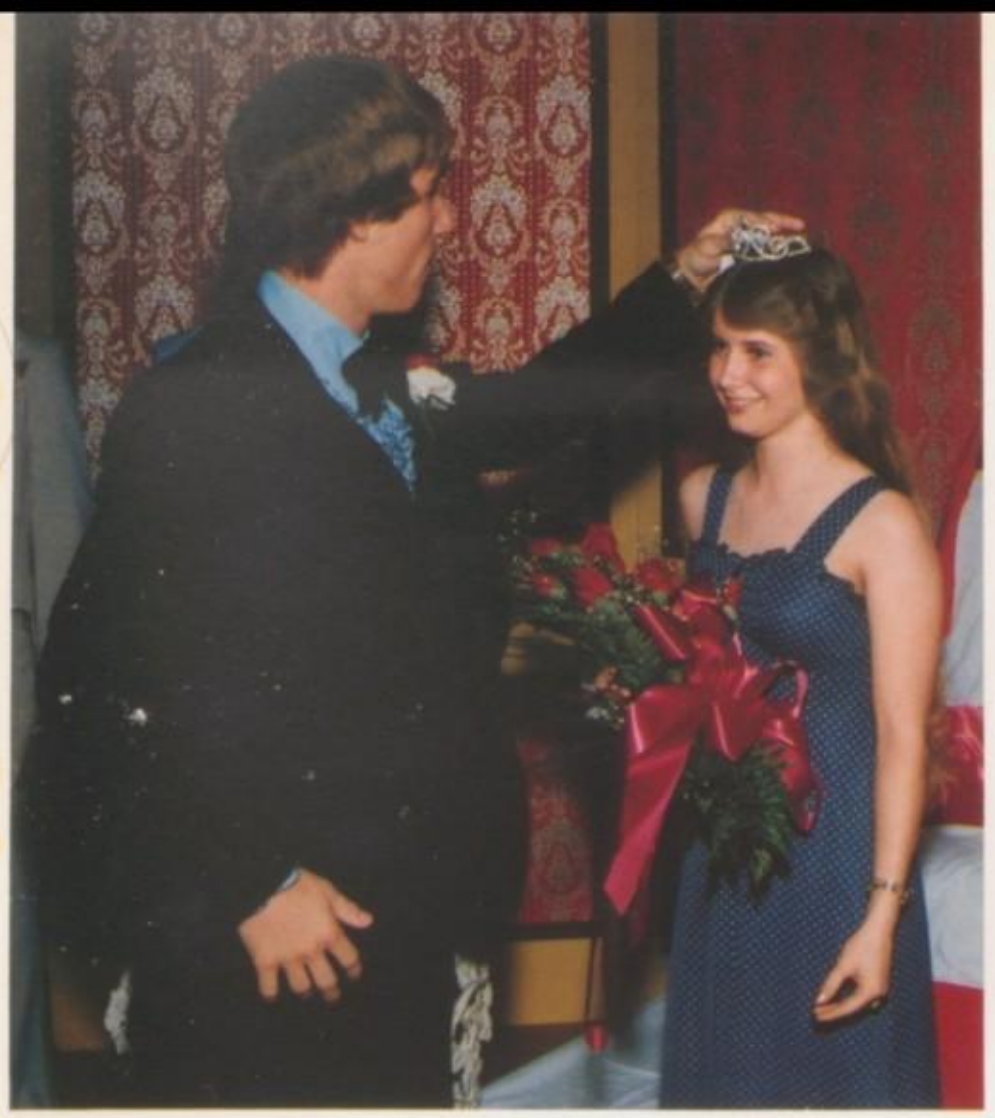
STUDENT LIFE

Juniors Doug McLaughlin, Jodi Haley, Bonnie Bush, and Dave Mathie wait in line to sign the Queen's Guest Book during the Prom.

In preparation for the Prom, Junior John Hinkel helps to bring the gym alive with decorations. Much time is spent on such tedious work as he is doing.

A touch of class is added to the Prom as the 1976-77 Hoover Hi-Lows sing and entertain. Shown here directing is Senior Bill Hamilton.

The gym is slowly becoming a place splendor as decorations and the band "gazebo" is being erected. Streamers, pictures, trees, and other works of art helped to achieve this affect.



The most exciting moment and high point of the Prom was the crowning of Lisa Bose by her escort Dave Berens. Prom activities center around this unforgettable experience.

Prom: An Evening To Remember

What a more perfect way to end the Hoover school year than the Junior-Senior Prom. The 1976-77 Prom theme was "The Enchanted Forest". Reigning over this memorable event are Senior Queen Lisa Bose and her Court-Seniors Jane Schaub and Debbie Blair, Juniors Julie Cope and Janet Cullen. Many hours were spent in preparing for Prom. Decorations were in the senior class rainbow of colors. Music that night was provided for by "Quiet Fire". After-Prom was heald at the Canton Jewish Center. The weekend shall not be forgot by any who attened.

The royal Prom Queen and her Court reign over the 1976-77 Hoover Prom. They are (L. to R.) Junior Janet Cullen and her escort David Shields, Senior Debbie Blair and her escort Pat Southworth Senior Prom Queen Lisa Bose and her escort Dave Berens Senior Jane Schaub and her escort Dean Santelle, Junior Julie Cope and her escort Mitch Cook.

"I Love A Carnaval And This Years Was The Best Ever"
Homecoming Queen Wendy Holder

"Carnaval" was the theme of this years Football Homecoming Dance heald on October 1, 1977. To achieve this effect clowns, ballons, popcorn and carnaval like paintings were used to decorate the gym. Jack Midas and his band added the musical touch to the perfect evening. The Hoover vs Cleveland John Marshall game took place at our own home stadium on September 30, 1977. Even though Hoover was defeated 19-6 we won the beautiful Queen Wendy Holder and her court Wendy Gopp, Laurie Rutledge, and Mary Peters. The entire weekend was one of excitement and enjoyment.

Junior Doug Fisher smiles as he awaits to try the Ring Toss. In keeping with the "Carnival" theme this year many booths were set up which added to the excitement of the evening. A celebrated time was had by all.

At the toss of the coin the 1977-78 Homecoming Football game gets underway.

The Hoover Hi-Lows (L. to R.)- Jeff Patton, Linda Lundstrom, Sue Hill, John Hinkel, April Preston, Barb Pfeiffer, Wes Schaub, Mark Tobias, Karen Paulson, Randy Cooke, Kathy Scheffler, Joe Naughton, Steph Teel, John Niffenegger, Terri Hotchko, Laura Carr, and Randy Pepper.

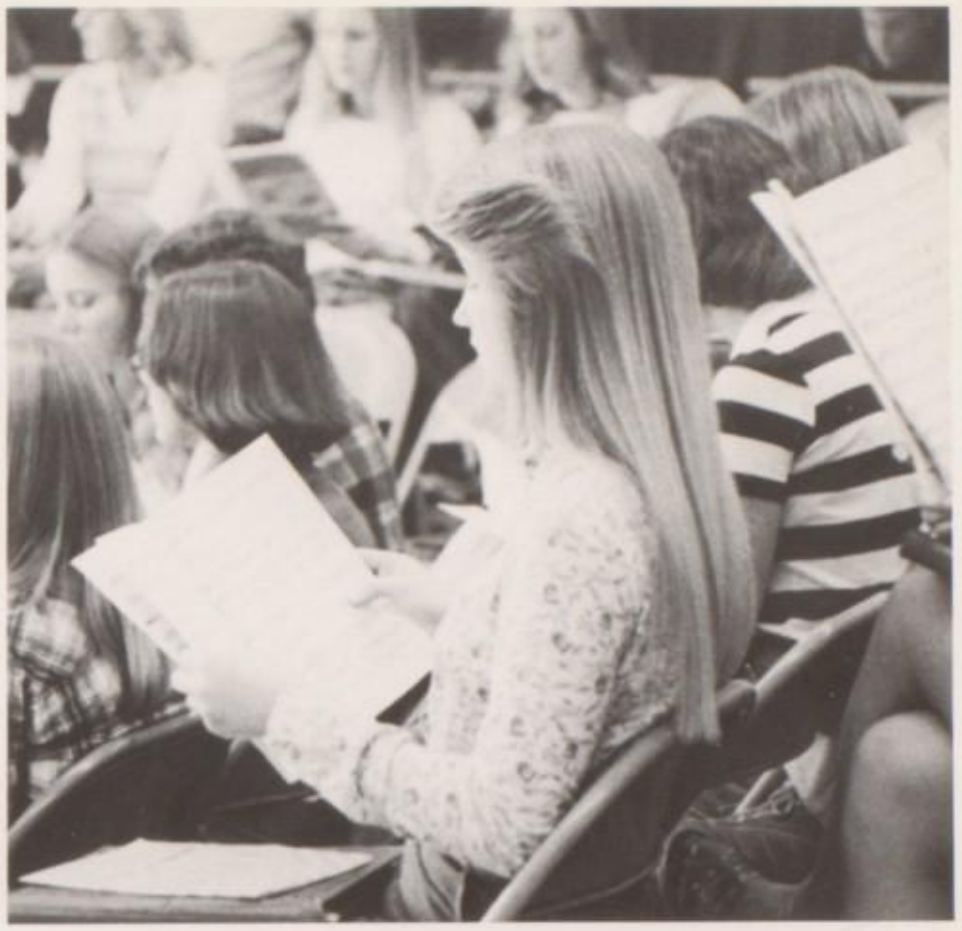
Director Mr. Charles Kidder spends many hours with the choir to achieve excellance and perfection.

"I'm Impressed!"
Mr. Charles Kidder, Director

This is the first year Seniors, Juniors, and Sophmores have been together to form the Hoover A'cappella Choir. "Practicing everyday fifth period is a lot of work but the choir sounds great," says one member. Music is prepared for major concerts during the Christmas season and in the spring. The Hoover Hi-Lows also perform many concerts throughout the school year. In October of this year they were hosts for a program of other choral groups similar to their own. Both A'cappella Choir and Hi-Lows are to be commanded and congratulated on fine performances this year. Mr. Charles Kidder director, is both impressed and proud of both groups.



Senior Kim Andaloreo participates in the singing of this song for choir

Seniors, Juniors, and Sophmores help to make up the 1977-78 Hoover A'cappella Choir. Rehearsals everyday help to bring out excellance and superb quality. In this picture sections are divided into soprano, bass, tenor and alto.

This prominent formation shows off our 1977-78 Hoover Marching Band. Many long and hard hours are spent practicing to make for a perfect as well as entertaining half-time show each week during football season.

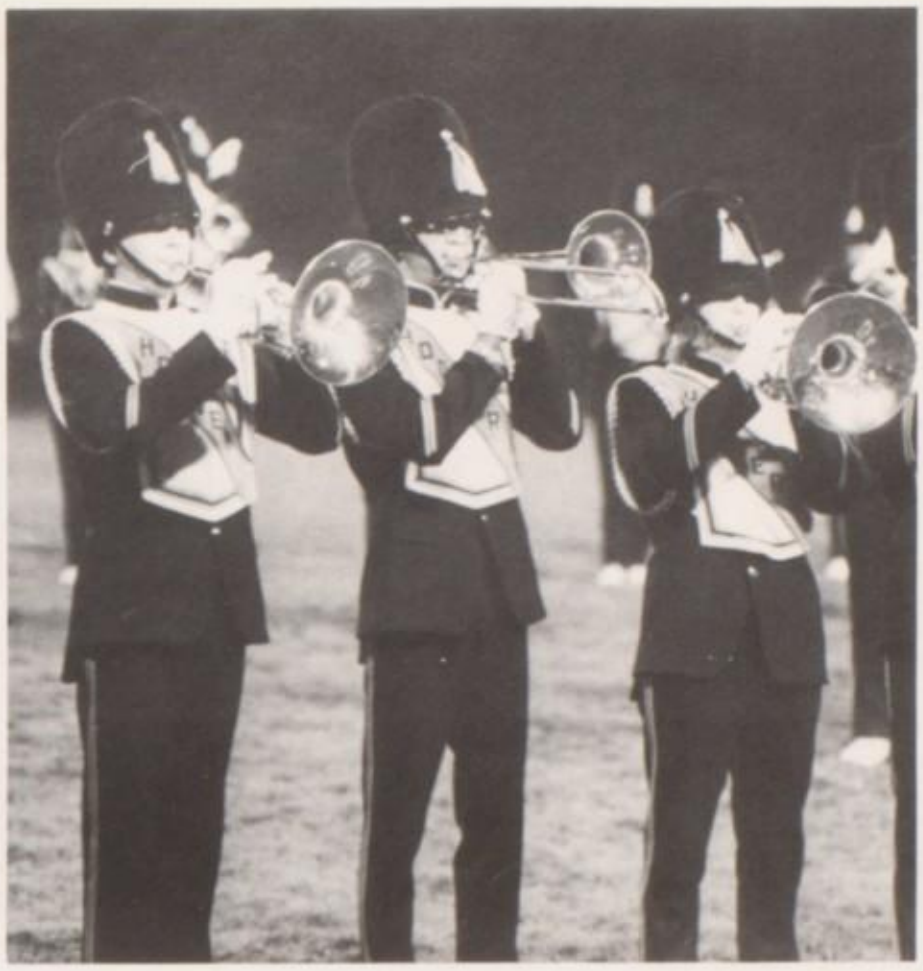
April Leads Band To Success

Flags, Rifles, National Unit, and Majorettes all combined to make a very impressive and exciting Hoover Marching Band this year. Under the direction of Mr. Robert McCleaster and assistant Mr. Doug Prather the band had several half-time shows. Miss April Preston was the Field Commander this year and lead them on the field with her direction. Hours spent practicing seventh period and after school were well demonstrated on the field. Band shows and competitions are apart of the marching season.



As the band plays in the background these three members have a trio during the half-time activities. Many hours of practice have previously been sought in order to achieve this.

Here Hoovers National Unit, Rifle Squad, and Flag Line make for a very impressive picture. They add style and precision to the marching band during half-time activities and other band functions.

Standing at attention is April Preston Hoover High Schools second female Field Commander. She directs the marching band on the field.

Still One Of Best Squads In Nation

Again this summer our cheerleading squad qualified for National Grand Cheerleading Championships in Lansing, Michigan. They qualified four individually-Lynn Lancaster, Chris Piatt, Lauri Rutledge, and Jenny Baker. In competition against 250 girls Chris took second in the nation. Lynn also qualified for talent with her ballet. The team pom-pom routine to "Turn the Beat Around" and skit "The Star Player and the Six Unkown Stars" also qualified for awards. Overall, the squad placed seventh in the nation.

Wendy Holder and Lynn Lancaster are the only two seniors on the cheerleading squad this year. This is Wendy's first year as a cheerleader, and she was also chosen as Football Homecoming Queen. This is Lynn's third year as a cheerleader. During competition she qualified individually and in the talent portion this year.

This mount known as "PEAK" is one of the highest mounts done. It is usually done by college squads using 14 members. The Hoover Cheerleaders use 10.

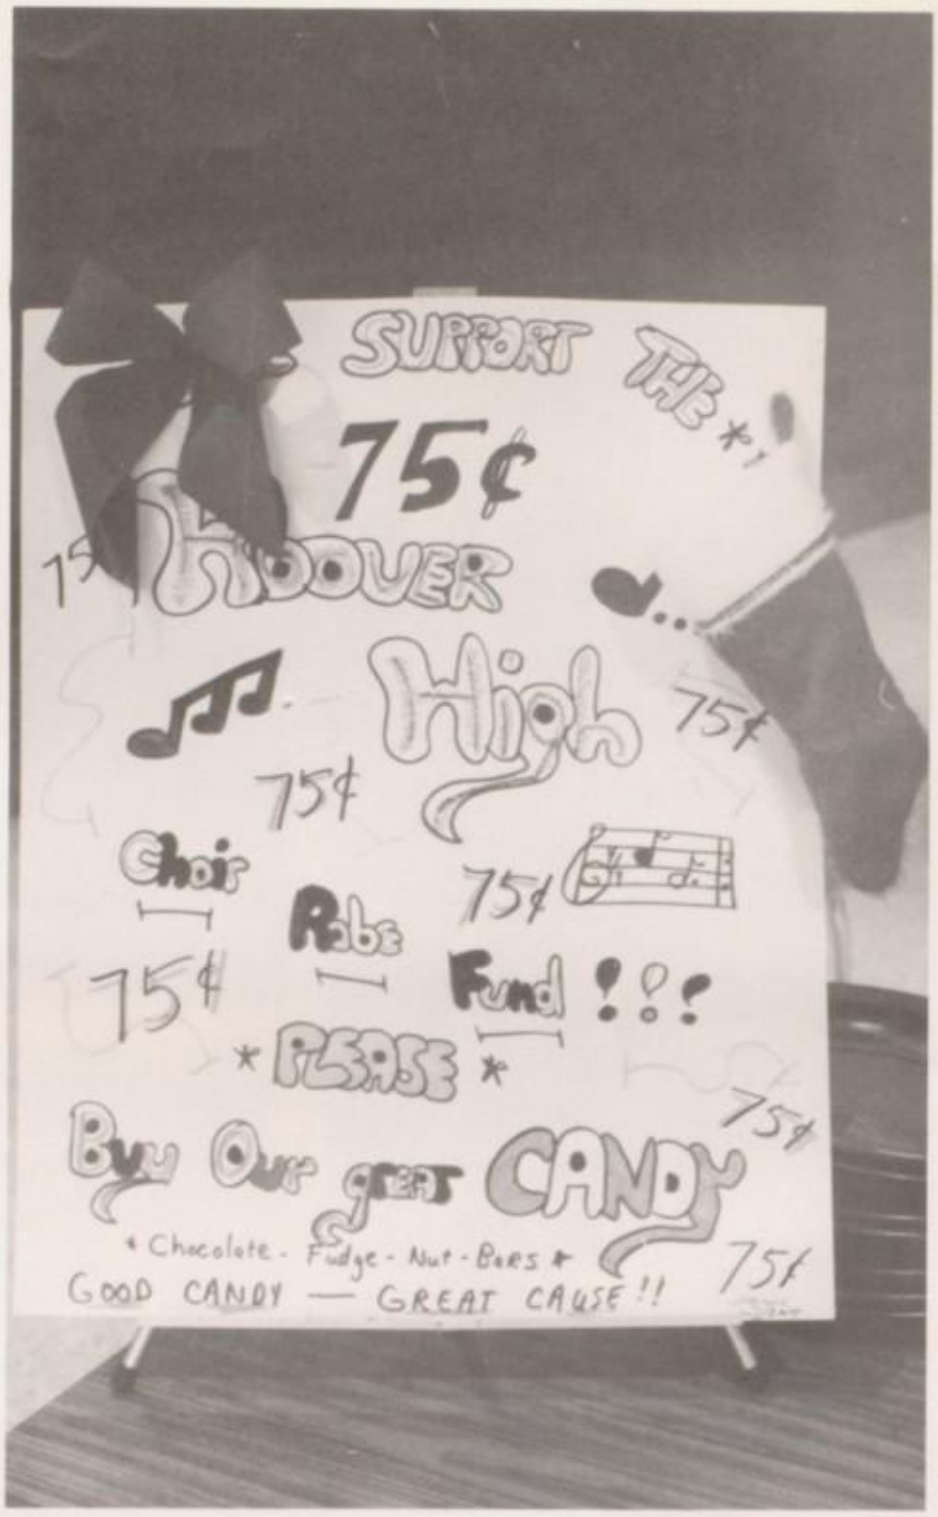
This heart was part of the Homecoming pep rally. These pom-pom routines help to "psyche" up the team.

"The Star Player and the Six Unknowns" This was the skit that qualified to Grand National Cheerleading Competition and advanced to semi-finals.

Success In "78"

This year's choir was a big success. The A'Cappella choir is structured from sophomores, juniors and seniors under the direction of Mr. Charles Kidder. The choir preforms at our holiday assemblies and special concerts during the year. The Spring Sing is always a favorite every year. The choral department consists of Hi-Lows, Girls' Glee Club, Mixed Choir, and A'Cappella Choir.

Joe Naughton and Karen Paulson enter along with Jeff Patton and Stephanie Teel as they lead in the Hi-Lows for another supreme performance.



This year the choir sold candy to raise money for new choir robes. Somebody did a great job on this sign!

The Hi-Lows are always a pleasant addition to the choral shows. They perform at different events during the year.

Here under the direction of Mr. Kidder, the A'Capella choir shows their marvelous talent.

The Hi-Lows do a special performance as they act out a song they are doing.

For Effect, Four Bands

After Marching season is over, the band goes from marching to concert style. There are four bands that the members breakdown into. Two of them are required and the others are elective. The four bands are: Symphonic, Concert, Stage Band I, and Lab Band. Most of the better musicians are in the Symphonic Band. The other players are in Concert Band. All the bands play at two school concerts.

The Symphonic Band, which consists of 78 members, is the biggest and best band that Hoover has. The band plays in Class A.

Another fine band that Hoover has is the Concert Band. The band consists of 45 members and play in Class B.

Hoover is lucky to have a Stage Band that is good enough to play at a Cleveland Cavalier's basketball game. The 20 members of Stage Band 1 are very proud of themselves. Mr. Robert McCleaster also directs this band.

The Hoover Lab Band, usually called Stage Band II, is directed by Mr. Doug Prather. The band performs at two school concerts and has 20 members.

Story Theater

The Story Theater was performed by the students in Speech II class. The semanon class helped with lighting and other stage equipment. The play was held on February 10 and 11. The audiences liked the play so much, that the cast had an encore night on March 4. All three nights the play started at 8:00 p.m. Mr. Brockett was in charge of the play.

The semanon class helped with the production of Storybook Theater. They are: (l. to r.) Lisa Lucilio, Jean Henry, Mike Morris, Dan Tulenko, Karen Petrack, Rob Whitacre, and Lorin Geiser.

Paul Nicholson was the play's lead singer. He did an excellent job singing while he was sitting down.

Steve Pittman played the part of the Robber Bridesgroom. His part, like the others, called for some good acting, and he did his part very good.

Henny-Penny was a scene in the play when most of the cast did an act together.

Mark Tobias and Frank Yost did their part for the play in a scene together.

The Girls Glee helped out at the Spring Sing with their singing. The songs they performed had been worked on for a couple of months.

Choirs Sing Out

The Spring Sing was heald at the North Campus last May. All the choirs gave excellant performances for and auditorium of people. The choirs had a good time singing songs of eairler years, which lead to their theme, "History of Music." After the choirs did the concert, they had a dance in the Commons area that lasted until midnight. At the dance, you could be entertained either outside, or inside the Commons.

The Charleston was done by the Hi-Lows. They enjoyed giving their performance for all that came.

The A'Cappella Choir did their part for Spring Sing. They sang some beautiful songs to make the evening more enjoyable.

Here Jane Schaub and Janice Holliday perform the "Jitterbug" with a back-up band.

The Sophmore Mixed Choir gave a hand in the Spring Sing. All the arrangements they sang helped make the evening turn out perfect.

The queen of the 1977 Band Prom was Diana Peters. The king was Jay Halpin. The 1976 king and queen, Keith Ditmar and Alison Strebel were present. The senior attendants were Beth Nagel and her escort Dave Umbenhaur. The junior attendants were Marti Joseph and her eescort John Queen. The sophmore attendants were Sue Mansfield and escort John Arnold.

It seems Sue Hill and Jeff Monter wanted to be alone to have a private talk.

A dance was dedicated to the queen and her court. As they were dancing a little creature came strolling in to see if he could dance.

At the dance there were tables and chairs set up so that the guests could sit down and talk, like Paul Stones and his date, Lori Jones. Mark Rinehart and his date, Sherri Stoner are doing the same.

The guests could also stand around and talk as Evelyn Kuhne, Terry Resler, Allison Riggle, Joy Tedrick, and Sue Zumkehr. People could also dance like Beth Nagel and her father.

Dances Are Enjoyed By All

The Band Prom and Winter Homecoming were fun to all that attended. The Band Prom was held on November 11, 1977 from 8:00 to 11:00. The theme of the Band Prom was Star Wars. The Winter Homecoming was held on January 21, 1978 from 8:00 to 11:00. The Homecoming took the theme of Winter Wonderland.

The winter homecoming queens this year were Colleen Hawkins-basketball, her escort was Dave Mathie; Cindy Ebinger-swimming queen, her escort was Tim Stiles; Jody Hayley-wrestling queen, and her escort was Doug McLaughlin.

Last year's queen and court for the Spring Sing were queen Janet Moon, escorted by Keith Dittmar. The senior attendant was Riikka Jaakkola, and her escort was Gregg Pepper. The junior attendant was Karen Paulson, and her escort was John Lockler. The sophomore attendant was Beth Jennings and her escort was Doug Fisher.

Fast dancing is part of the Homecoming tradition. Here doing a fast dance are Michelle Renie, Matt Korosi, Vicki Korosi, and Jeff Papa.

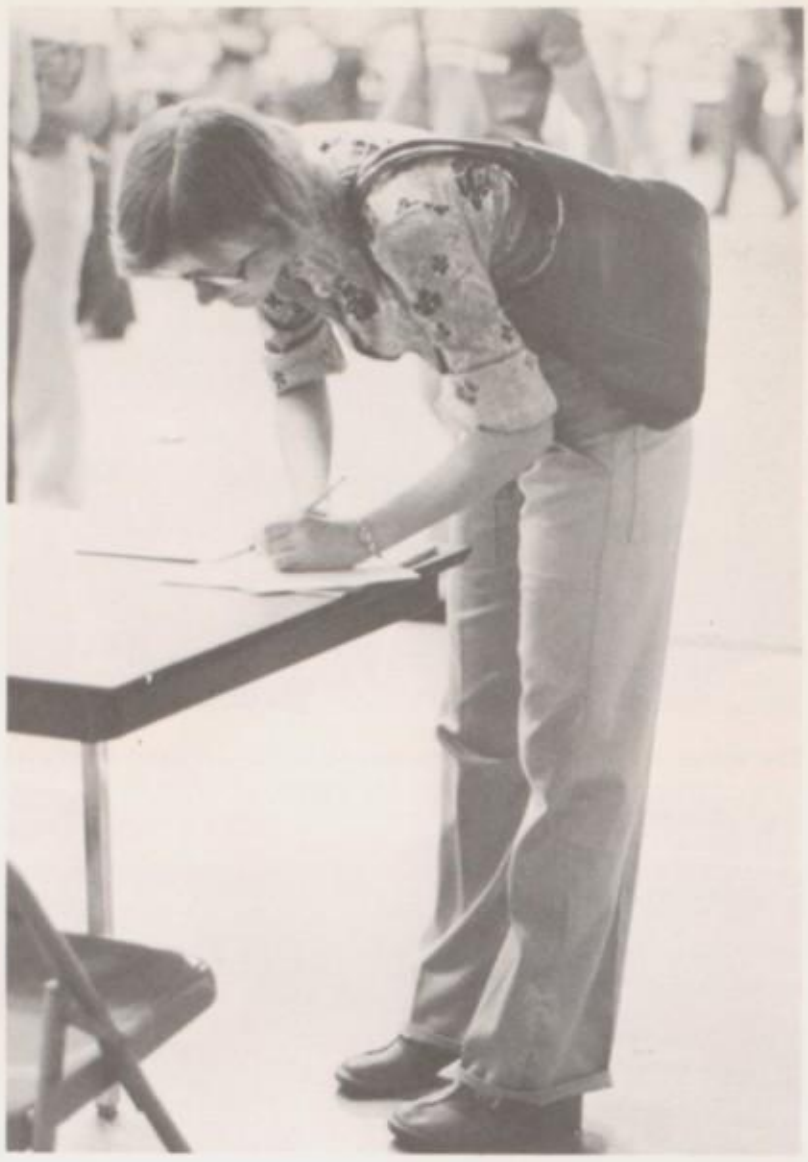
Spring

Spring is a time for sports. It is also the time when the classes display what they've done all year. It is time for the Spring Fair. Then is also the time when the students schedule their classes for the next year.

Arena scheduling lets you get in the classes you want to and the period you want to take them.

All you do is tell the teachers behind the tables and desks what period you want the class.



Some people can't get into the period they want to and have to change their scheudle as Beth Nagel is doing.

When you have all your cards, you take your cards to the southeast corner of the gym and if all periods are full, then you can leave.

The woodshop class made things for the fair as we can see with this beautiful bedroom set.

Last year's Spring Fair had a lot of different topics. Don Dick seems to like the photos.

The art class had their fun with making paintings for the fair. These paintings are just two of the very good art pieces at the fair.

The art class also made some pottery for the fair. The pottery is so interesting, it made people stop and look.

V-i-c-t-o-r-y

Whenever Hoover has a pep-rally there is always one attraction the students like to see, that is the cheerleaders. When the coaches of the different sports want a pep-rally they ask the cheerleaders to perform. The cheerleaders usually practice after school every night when they have to do a pep-rally.

At all the pep-rallies the cheerleaders perform different skits. Here they are performing for a basketball pep-rally.

Everyone knows about the Louisville Leopard door design, well the cheerleaders made their own sign for the pep-rally. It read: "Victory over Leopards.

At the Cleveland John-Marshall Fall Homecoming pep-rally, the cheer-

At the last football pep-rally, all the senior football players were introduced. The senior cheerleaders escorted the seniors to their seats. Here Wendy Holder escorts Co-captain Mark Cerreta.

At the end of all the pep-rallies, the cheerleaders form a circle and start the team rah, senior, junior, sophmore, and coach rahs. The band accompanies students as they sing the alma-mater.

For the first basketball pep-rally, the team captains, Dave Mathie and Mark Blair, were introduced as the speakers of the day.

When each sport has its first pep-rally the cheerleaders make a pyramid as a sort of hello cheer.

That's Entertainment

The Talent Assembly and Entertainment "77" are always big hits every year. Students of all ages and different talents form Hoover High School get together and come up with rather unusual acts. They try their best to entertain us all. The biggest success has been the "Five Bald Eagles Minus One". After last year they have been forced to retire because of graduation.

Randy Fabre and a few friends got together to do an unusual act for the students.

Wes Schaub and Mark Tobias are doing a song and dance routine shown here.

Karen Paulson and Kim Wall teamed up in last year's Talent Assembly to sing The Morning After for us.

The five bald eagles minus one are always a big hit every year. Mark Weigel lead the group in this extraordinary act.

Randy Tobias and Cheryl Aman were on hand last year as the masters of ceremonies for "Entertainment 77."

Even the teachers got in the act as Mr. Brockett, speech teacher, sung a song about our Favorite principal Mr. Mattachonie.

Jamie Padjen shows off one of her more zany talents as she heads the group known as the "Hen House Five."

Here pictured is Mr. Campfield, an english teacher, who is trying his best to entertain the audience.

Officers Take Charge

The class officers are chosen at the end of the school year, before the year their in office. There are five officers for each class. The officers are president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and historian. Each one of the officers does something special. The choir and band officers are chosen at the beginning of each year. The officers are in charge of certain activities during the year.

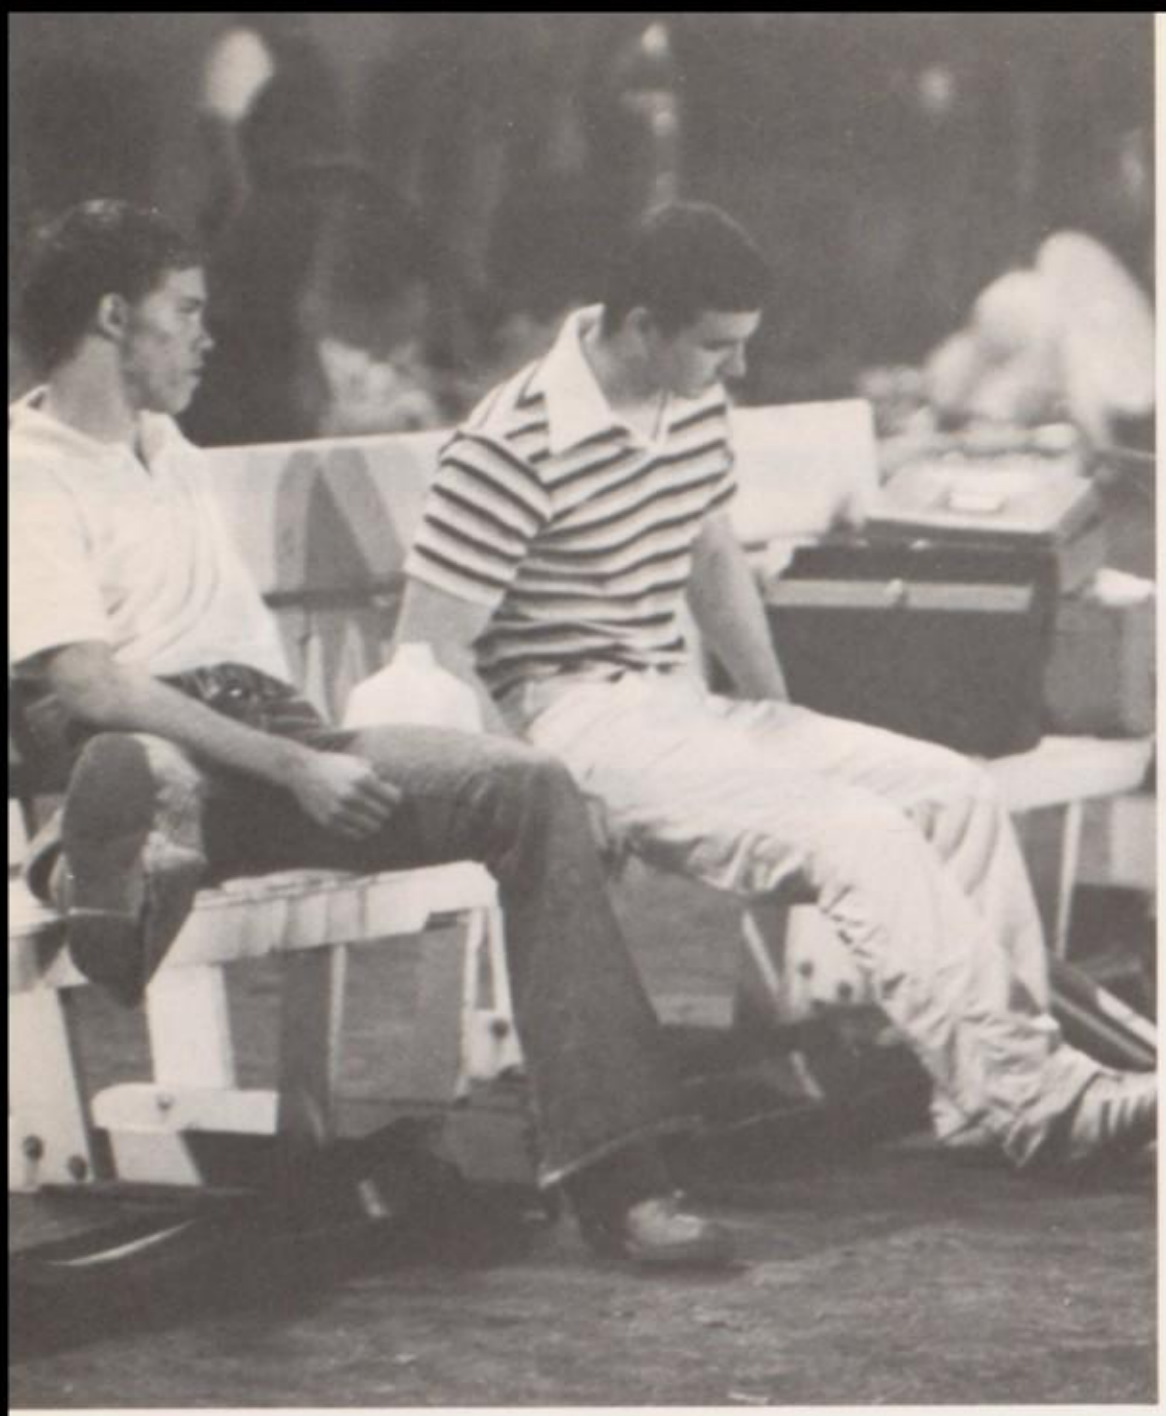
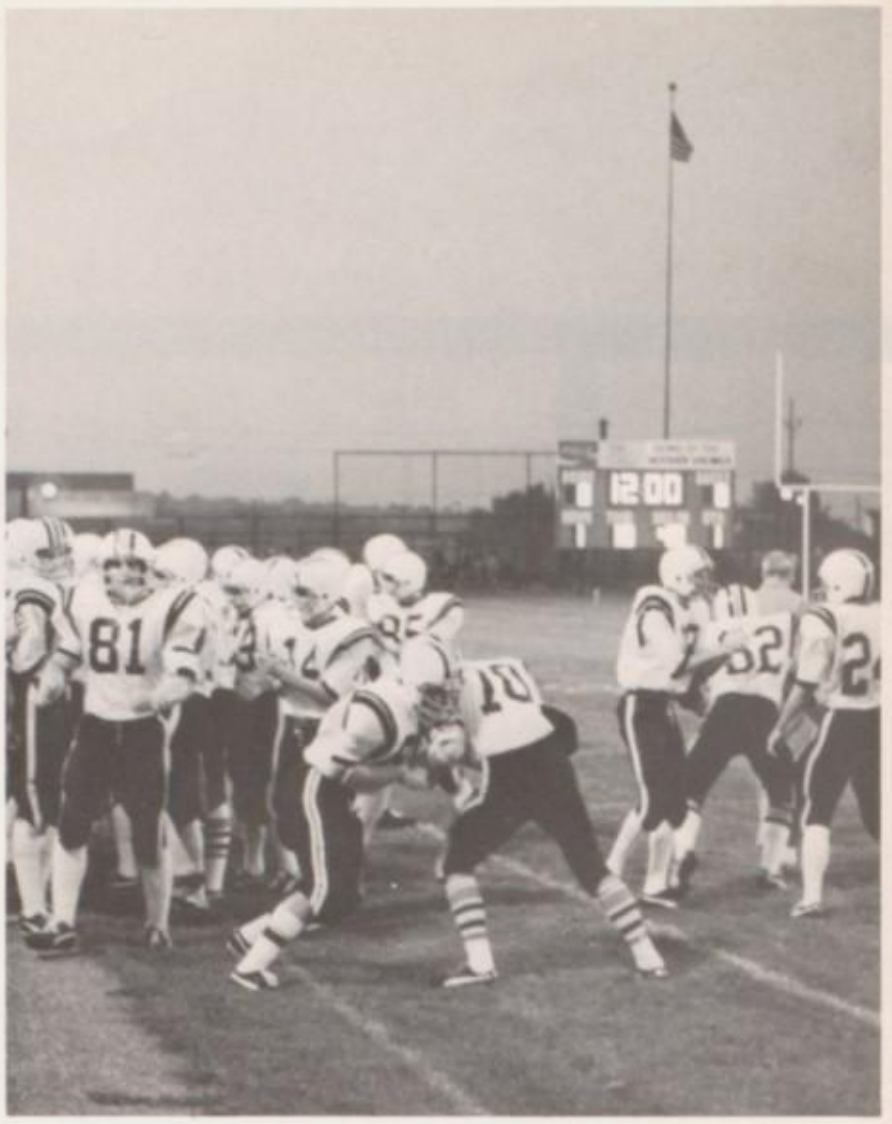
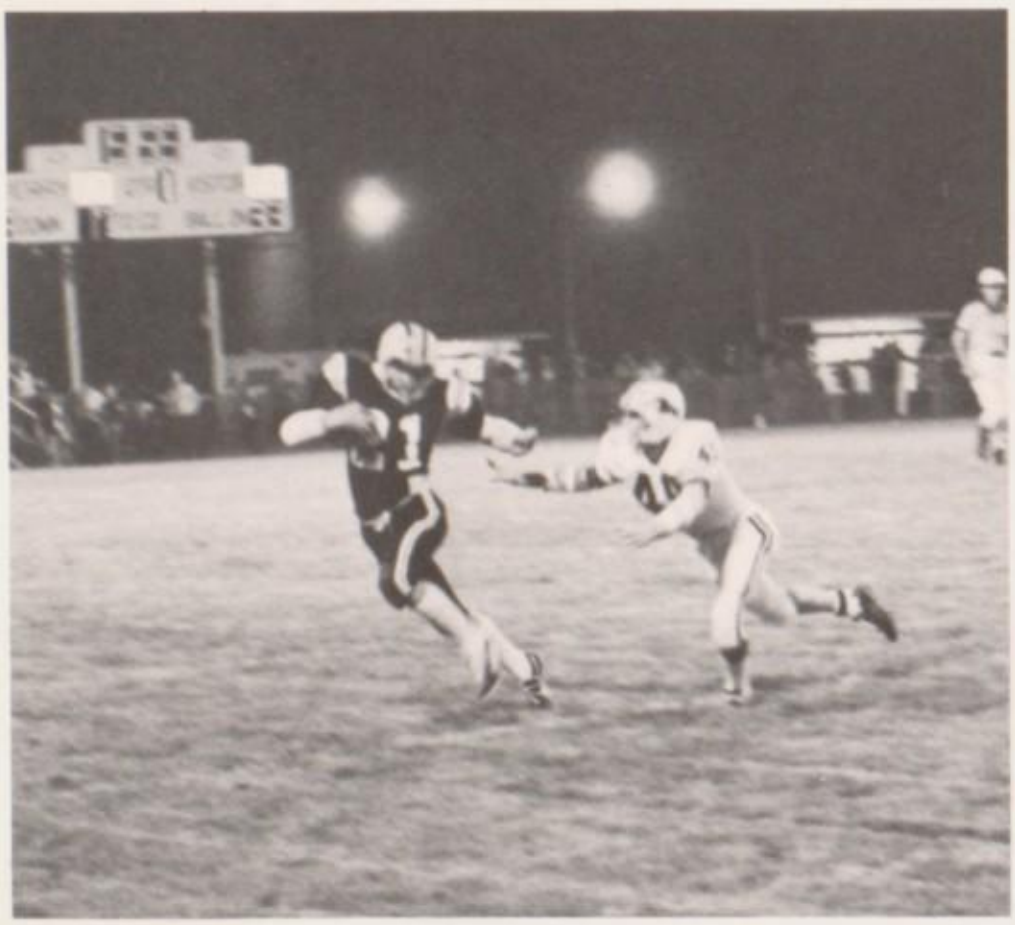
SPORTS



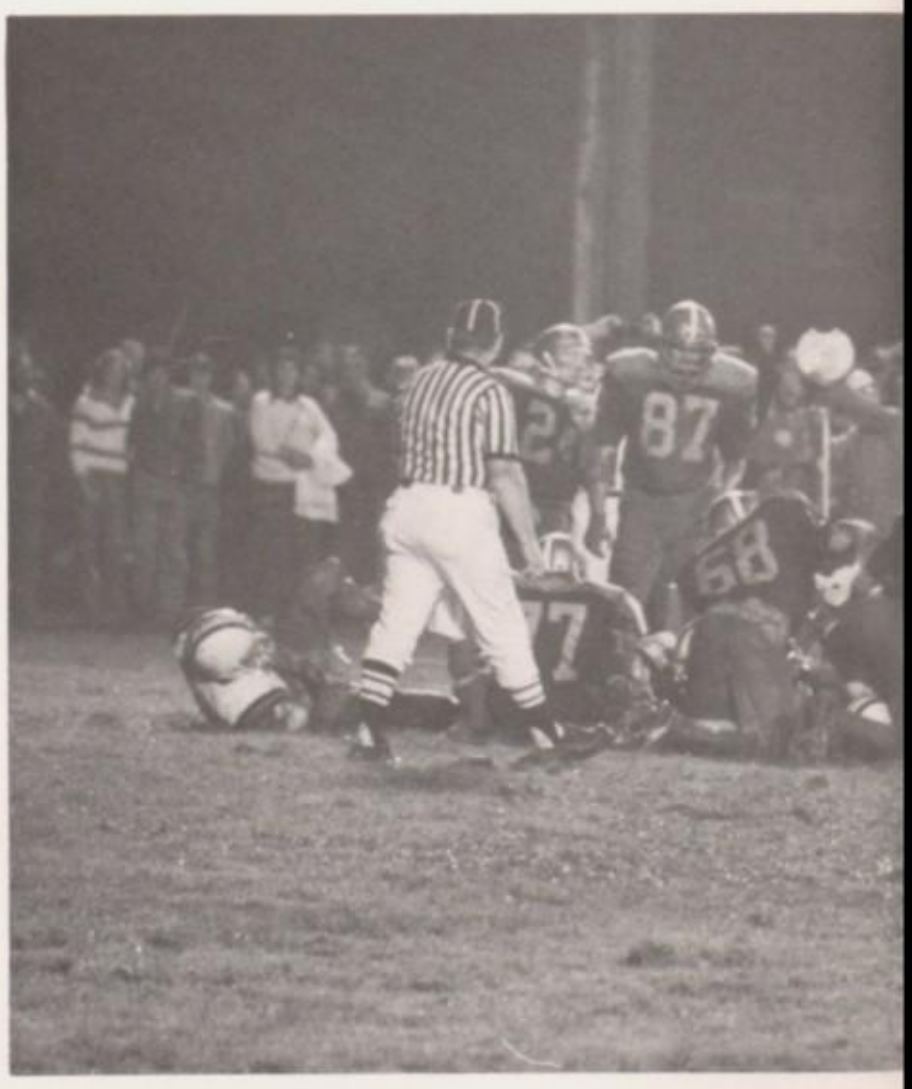
Dave Lovgren (L) looks on after being injured against Cleve. John Marshall, and Mike Wuchnick (R) against Glenoak. Both tore ligaments.



Warming up before our season opener against Ashtabula Harbor which took the Mariners down to a devastating defeat 29-14.



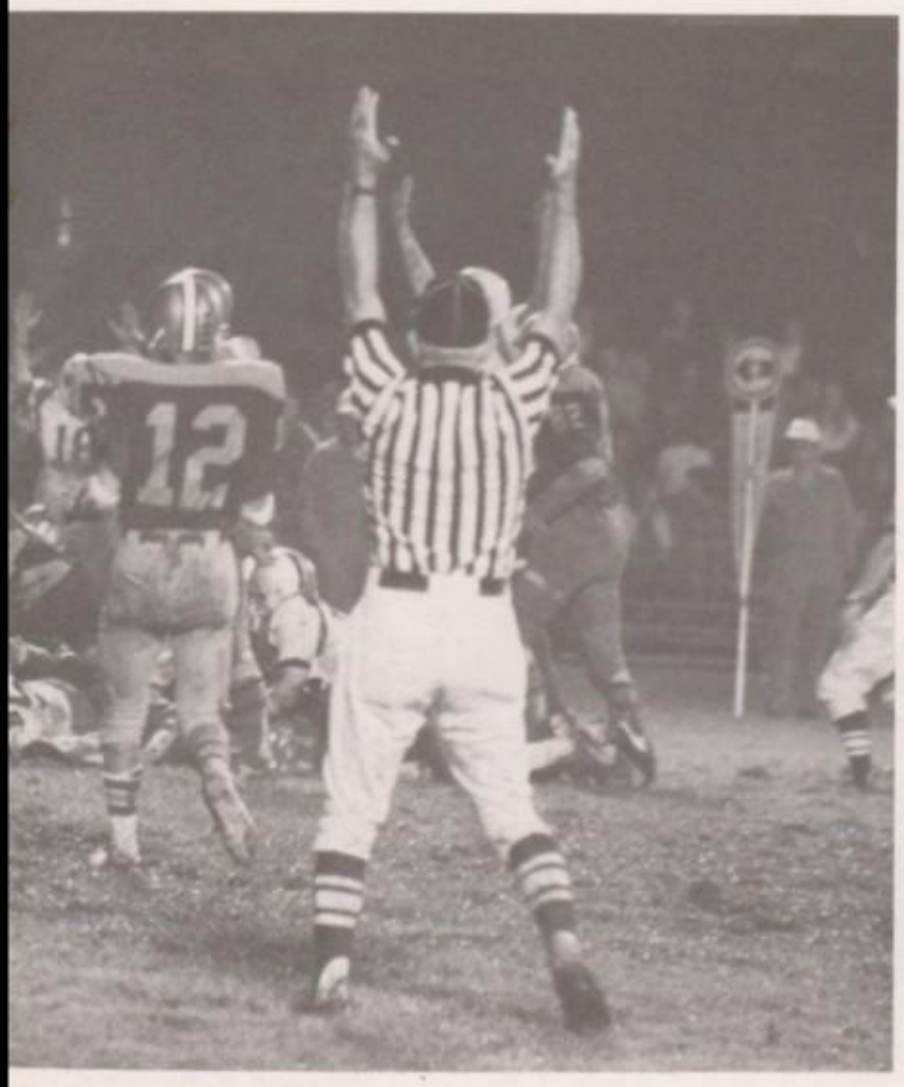
Not only did we suffer a discouraging loss at the hands of Perry, but also the first in a string of injuries to Dave Lovgren, but only after he totaled 86 yds. in 12 carries.

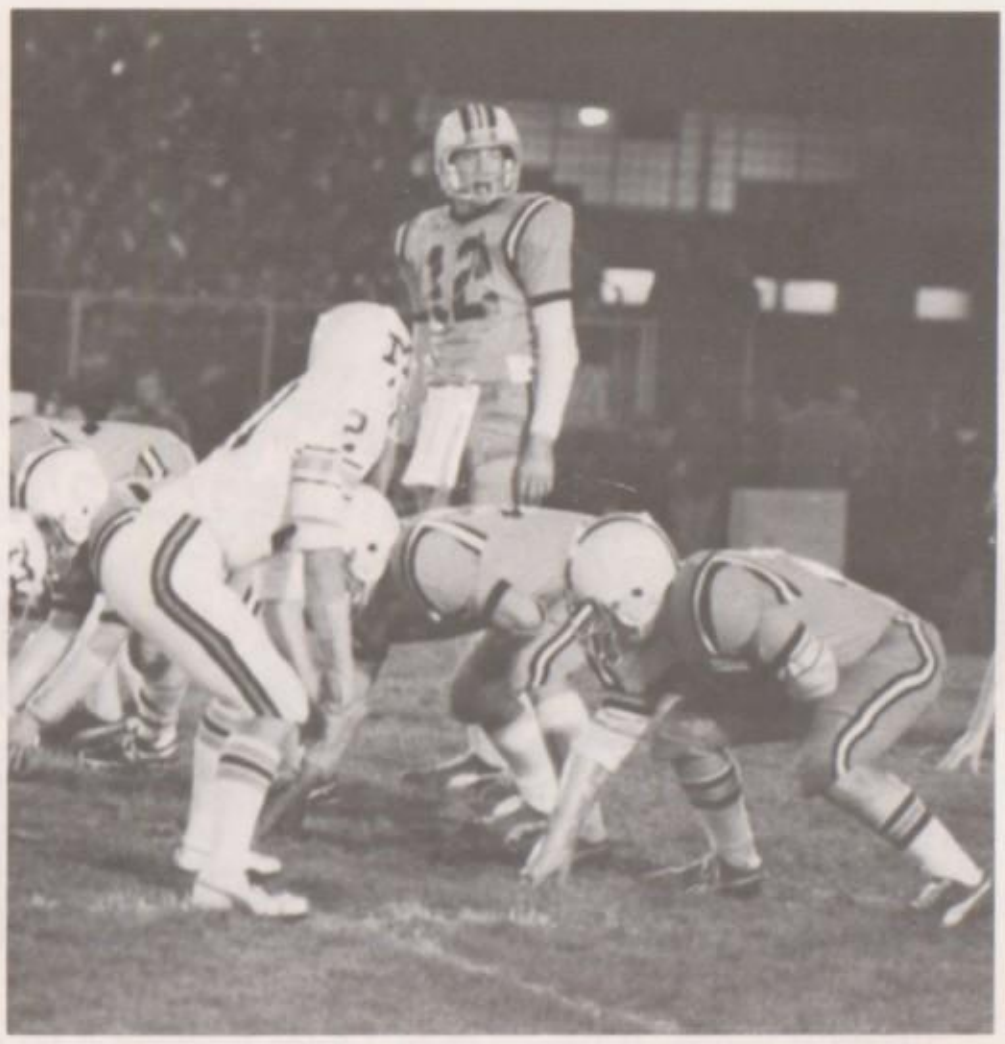


The headlines read "Vikings Unleash Lovgren to Pluck Eagles 20-0." And unleash him we did. The 6' 165 lb. senior running back scampered 123 yards in 20 carries, and scored three times, once on a 41 yard reverse, and twice on one yard runs-as shown here.

Jack Sponseller and Lee Gross take a rest after helping our defense to hold Glenoak to 4 first downs, 55 total yards, and only three complete passes.

Bruce Humbert looks on after Jeff Esmont sprained his ankle in the Perry game. Bruce himself tore ligaments during our season opener against Ashtabula Harbor.





Junior quarterback Todd Blackledge was a "move-in" to our system, but has adapted well. Passing for 1045 yds., 11 touchdowns, 4 touchdowns on runs by himself.

Vikes Plagued By Injuries

The 1977 Hoover Vikings under the Leadership of co-captains Mark Cerreta and Brad Moock had a disappointing yet winning season. The season opener against Ashtabula Harbor ended in victory, yet anguish for one player-Bruce Humbert. He tore ligaments in the first quarter, followed by Mike Wuchnick tearing ligaments in the second game. The string of injuries did not end. Dave Lovgren suffered a concussion in the Perry game, torn ligaments in the C.J.M. game, and was speared in the back in the Jackson game. Although they suffered losses of key players they ended with a winning season of 6-4.

Seniors Bill Fitz (L) and Scott Warburton (R) prepare for the extra point attempt. Scott had a total of 19 points this season.

Reserve Team Enjoys Success

The Hoover Reserve football team finished the season with a fine record of 7-3; beating Cuyahoga Falls, Perry, Marlington, Timken, Alliance, Louisville, and Canton South. High scorers for the team were Chris Snyder, Jim Ramsey, and Mark Taylor all with eighteen points. Also Mike Viscounte, Todd LePage, and Rich Cross, who scored twelve points. The team was coached by Mr. Gross, Mr. Radich, and Mr. Tolarchyk.

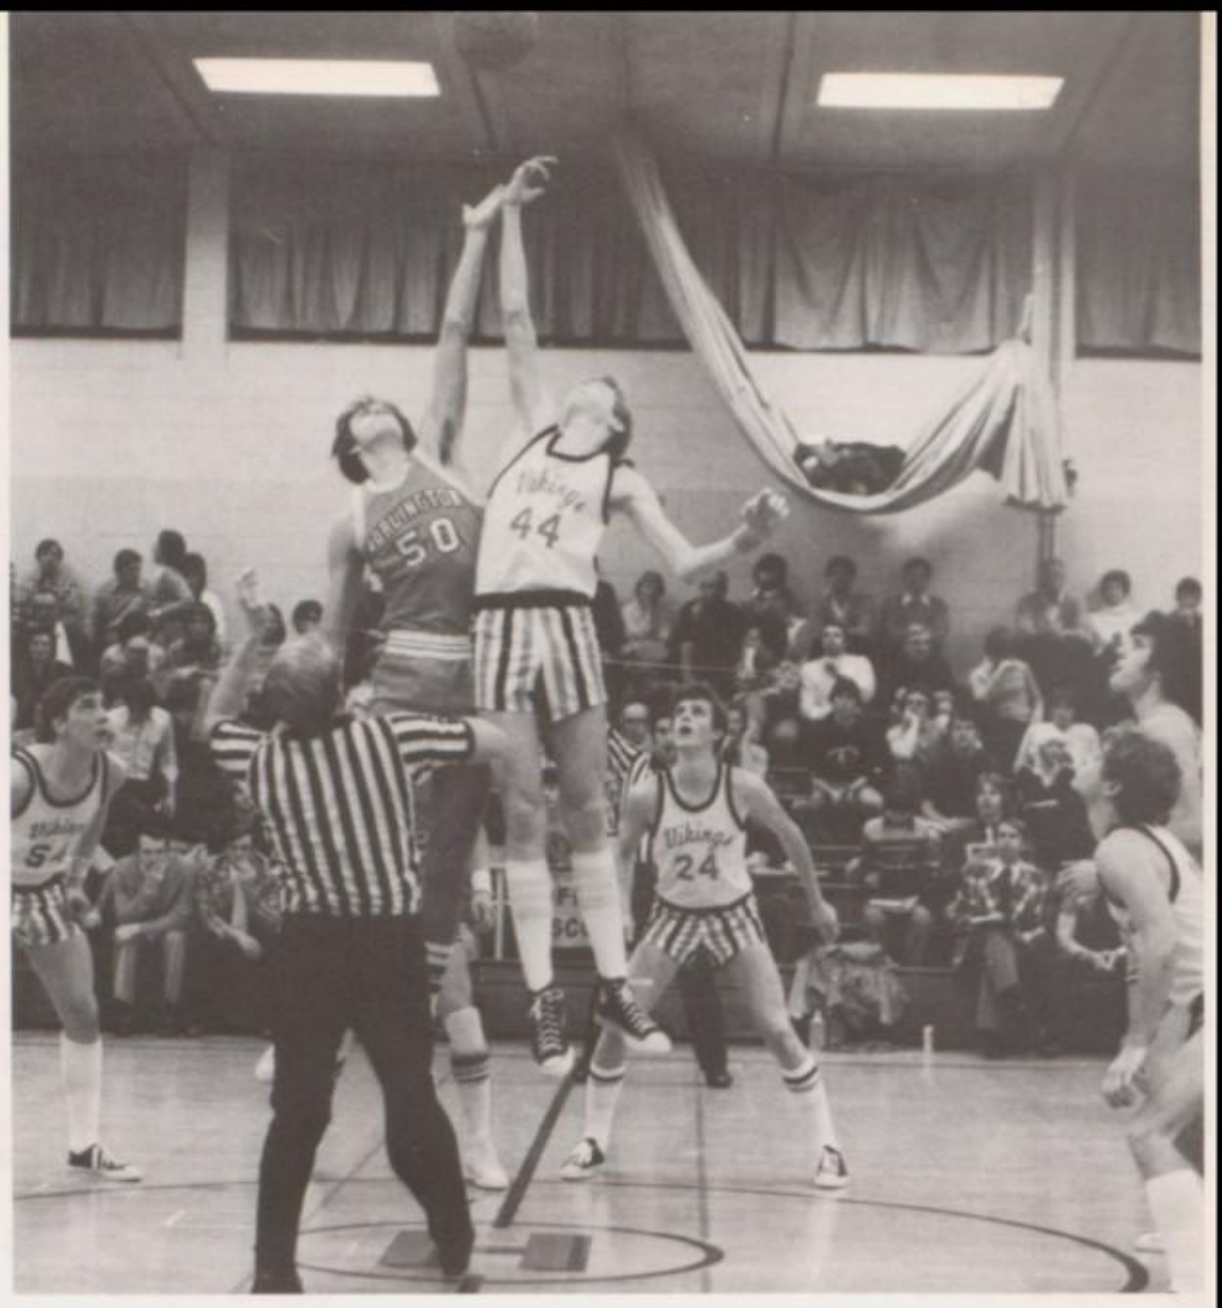
Sophomore Wide Receiver Whitney Logan makes another outstanding run; passing the defense. Whitney will be a great asset in the next two seasons.

Dick Seitz skillfully out manuvers his opponents from Dover on a well executed pass reception. Despite his efforts, they lost.

Quarterback Todd LePage takes the football on a "keeper" against Perry. His leadership abilities helped win another victory of 20-0 for the reserves.

Cagers Continue To Build Team

The boys' varsity basketball team finished the season with a 6-11 record. The boys worked hard under the direction of Mr. Eddins. Outstanding players were seniors Dave Mathie, Mark Blair and John DeMarco and juniors Dave Garbutt and Todd Blackledge.



Number 44 Dave Garbutt leaps into the air on a jump shot hoping to tip the ball to one of his awaiting teammates, Todd Blackledge, Dave Mathie, and Mark Blair. Garbutt made 11 points in the Marlington game.

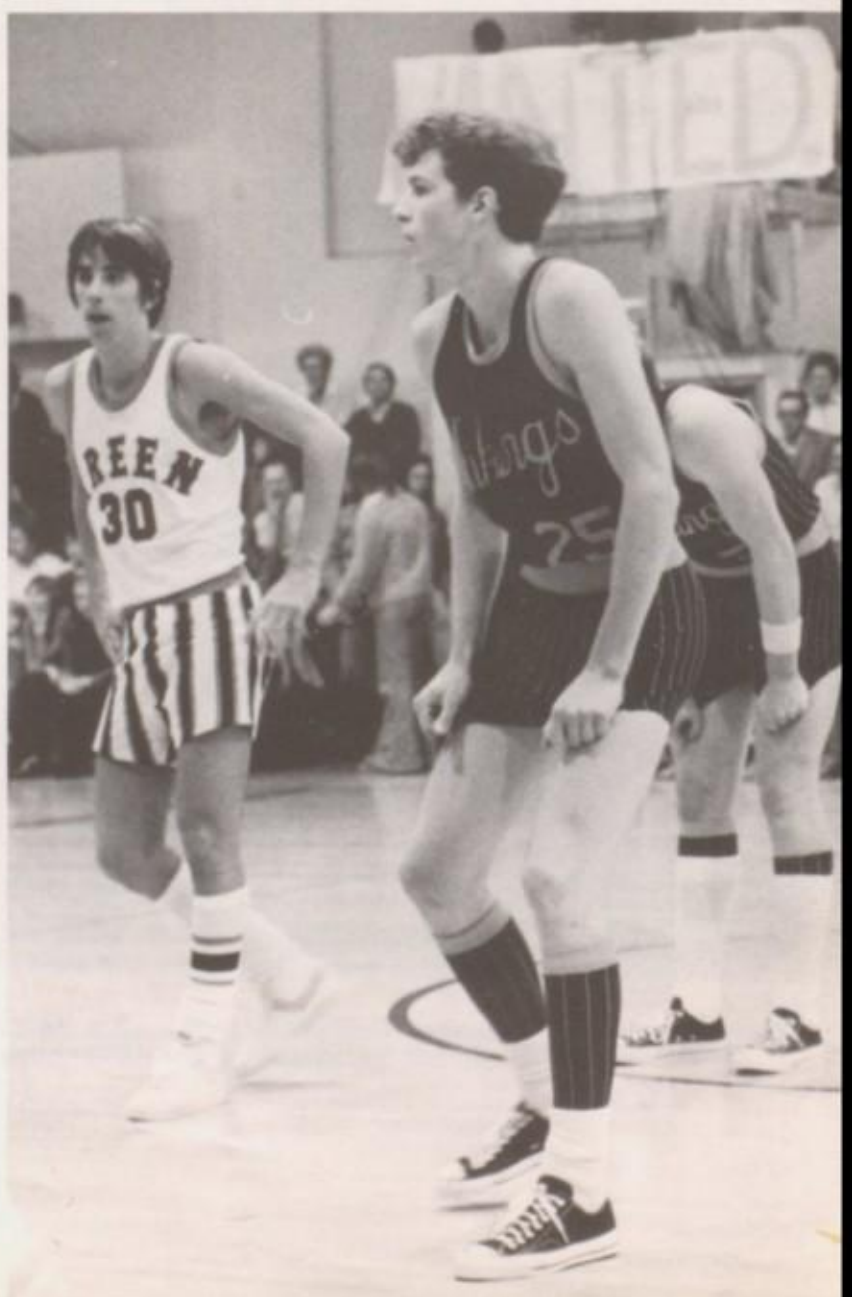
Cagers Shoot For Victory

Underclassmen Mark Patterson and Todd Blackledge talk before a game. Mark was injured during the season. Both show much potential for next year.

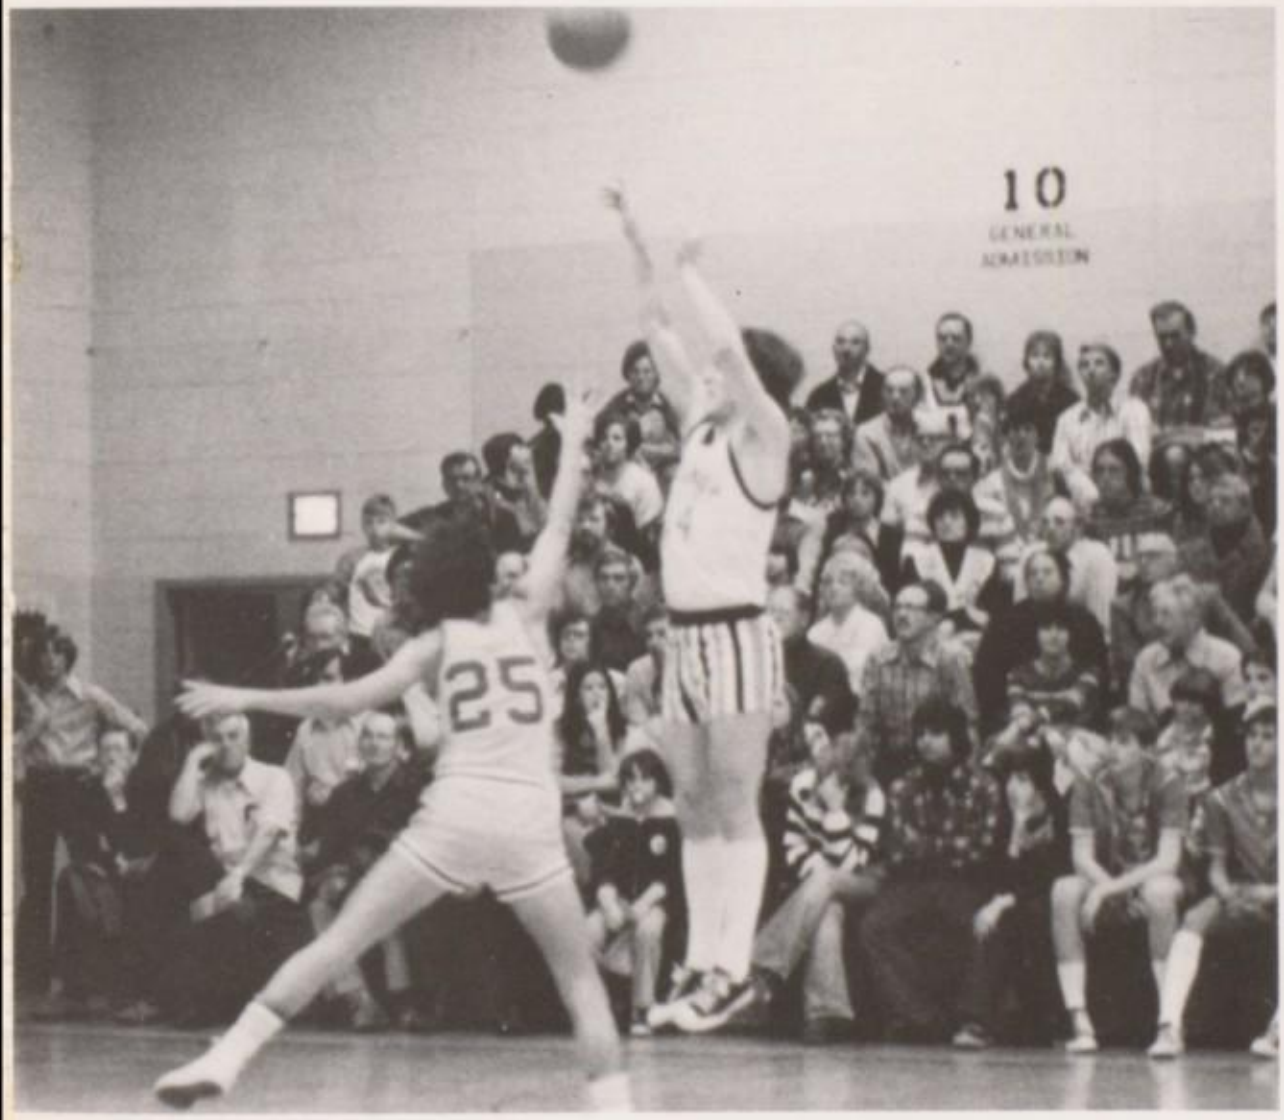
Senior cager Mark Blair dribbles the ball past a Marlington opponent. As a starting guard for the Vikings, Mark had a good season, showing much team spirit and hard work.

Ken Pastier controls the ball and keeps an eye out for an opening to set up a shot for the Vikings. Ken, a junior, performed well this year in his time on the court.

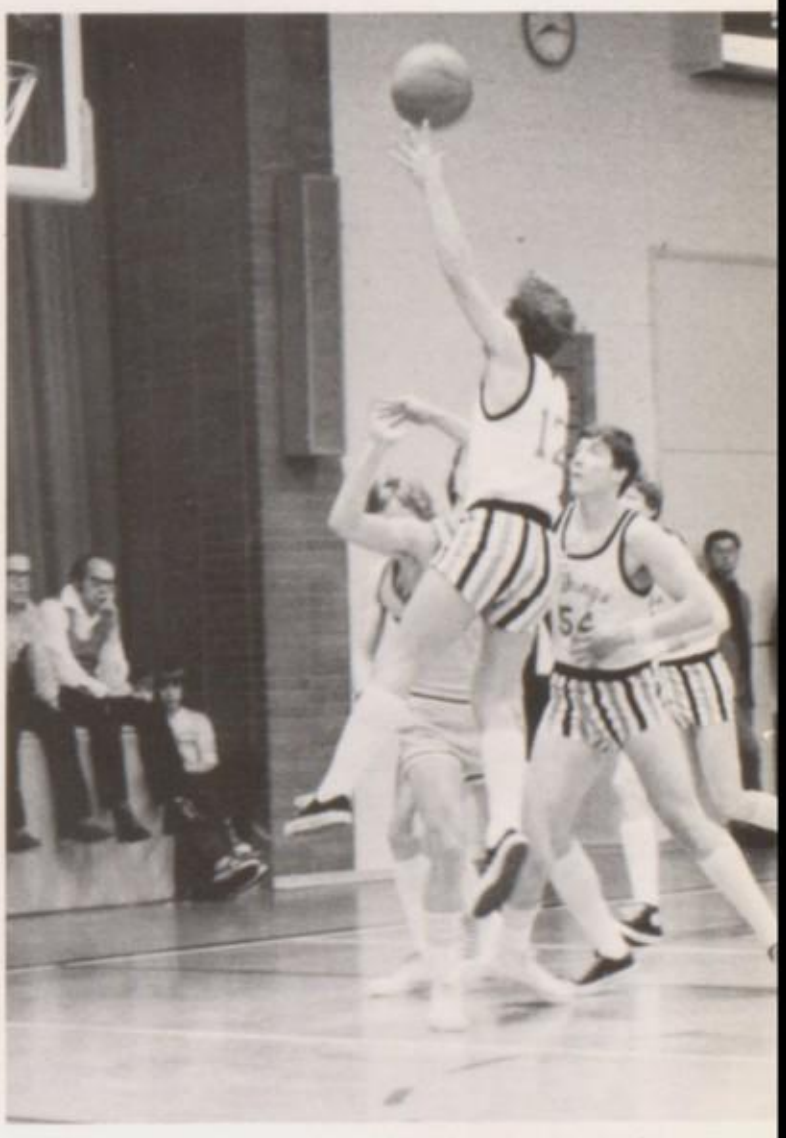
Dave Mathie, a starting senior forward, awaits a pass from a team member during an away game at Green.



At the beginning of a home game against Perry, Hoover leads by two points and senior Dave Mathie goes up for a shot from the right corner. Dave totalled ten points.



John DeMarco concentrates on a jump shot from the outside against a Perry defender. John, a senior, started at the guard position for the Vikings this season. DeMarco contributed five points in the game.



Blackledge, number 54, looks on as senior Mark Blair goes up in the air after a rebound at a home game.

The Viking Reserves finished out the season with a record of six wins and twelve losses. Orange Crushers Have A Great Season

The Hoover girls' basketball team of 1978 had a very fine and successful season. The girls had a lengthy schedule of games and finished the season with an impressive record of 12 wins and 6 losses. The team was coached by Mr. Sollie.

Viking Wrestlers Are The Champions

The 1978 Viking Wrestling Team were champions again this season, going undefeated 11-0 and becoming Federal League Champions. They were lead by coach Walt Tolarchyk who this season topped 100 dual match wins. The team was inspired by the song "We Are The Champions" by Queen. This song became a vital organ of the team, marching them into victory after victory. But the greatest inspiration they had this season was the five returning seniors whose leadership was unmatched any other year. The Matmen from the class of '78 are Matt Justyn; Jeff Esmont 11-0 record; Tom Dickerson 10-1 record; Todd Beavers 11-0; and Doug McLaughlin, the first half of the undefeated McLaughlin brothers; Steve a sophomore wrestled in the 145 lb. class this season. Junior John Grasinger was also undefeated this season 11-0, and had the greatest number of pins-nine. John is also half of a brother team, Dave Grasinger a sophomore wrestled at the 98 lb. class this season. Following the undefeated Varsity was the Reserve team posting a 10-1 record. We would like to congratulate the team for an outstanding season, and the senior wrestlers for helping to make the class of '78 shine.

ORGANIZATIONS

V.V. Writes On

The Viking Views is the schools monthly newspaper, ranging in size from four to sixteen pages. The V.V. goes out to its advertisers, the Board of Education, and all principals in the school system; as well as to some past Hoover students and many other schools in the country. It is seen by the community as a representative of Hoover High School. Features, editorial cartoons, and letters to the editor give the staff and their fellow students a chance to give their impressions of Hoover, express their views, and make heard suggestions, complaints, congratulations, and so forth. The all senior staff of the Views' 39th Volume consists of those persons pictured, along with official artists John Hinkel and Dan Florian. Also contributing are Michael Krigline, Mike Kirk, and Cindie Ritter. Stories are written by students of both Journalism I and II with the guidance and advisement of Mrs. Stephanie Scourfield. The Viking Views informs students of what happens at Hoover and in the community; the things of importance to the students themselves.

Senior Colleen Hawkins pins on her class flower. The Viking Views sold carnations for the Hoover-Jackson game.

Journalism I students like Carol Patroff, Debbie Mansfield write for the paper and will staff it next year.

Cindie Ritter spent the first half of her senior year as the Viking Views exchange editor and expert writer. When she left, her job of sending out V.V. copies was taken over by Senior Carolyn Pickles.

Janice Ebert is quite a busy person at the Viking Views. As Business Manager, she is responsible for keeping the books and balancing the budget.

Mrs. Stephanie Scourfield, affectionately known as "MOM" to the students on the Viking Views staff, is seen here teaching one of her many English classes.

VIKING Preparation

The majority of the VIKING class worked overtime to complete the yearbook. They had many deadlines to meet in order for the book to come out on time. Many first year students did a good job completing their work; such as Tracy Baab, editor of the athletic section; Sharon Patrick and Amy Jones, co-editors of the academic section; Jenny Mylius, Jeanette Baus and Dave Michel, photographers. This book is the 53rd edition and our theme is "Leaving Your Mark." The 1977-78 yearbook will have a new publishing company, Josten's American Yearbook Company. The editor this year is Sharon Satterfeild and our advisor is Miss Susan Manly.

It seems as though one of the VIKING'S roving photographers has caught our Advisor, Miss Susan Manly by surprise. She was working dilligently at her typewriter in order to complete a deadline.

English teacher Mr. Eric Campfield is often seen dropping by from next door. This time he joins a discussion on advertising with Bret Gulley and Miss Manly.

Pep Club Boosts School's Spirit

Members of the 1977-1978 Pep Club keep Hoover spirit alive! Each week they are involved in painting signs for different sports events and hanging them around school. Another way the Pep Club boosts spirit is by selling buttons. They also encourage students to attend pep rallies and sports events and help cheer our teams to victories.

Hoover students attend pep rallies which are led by our cheerleaders. Here, the students cheer our VIKES to another victory, this time to the Perry Panthers.

Pep Club Officers: Karen Hoffmyer, Sandy Sprung, Beth Elsfelder, and Debbie Clarke.

This sign, which was done through the efforts of the Pep Club, demonstrates to Hoover teams that students are always behind them.

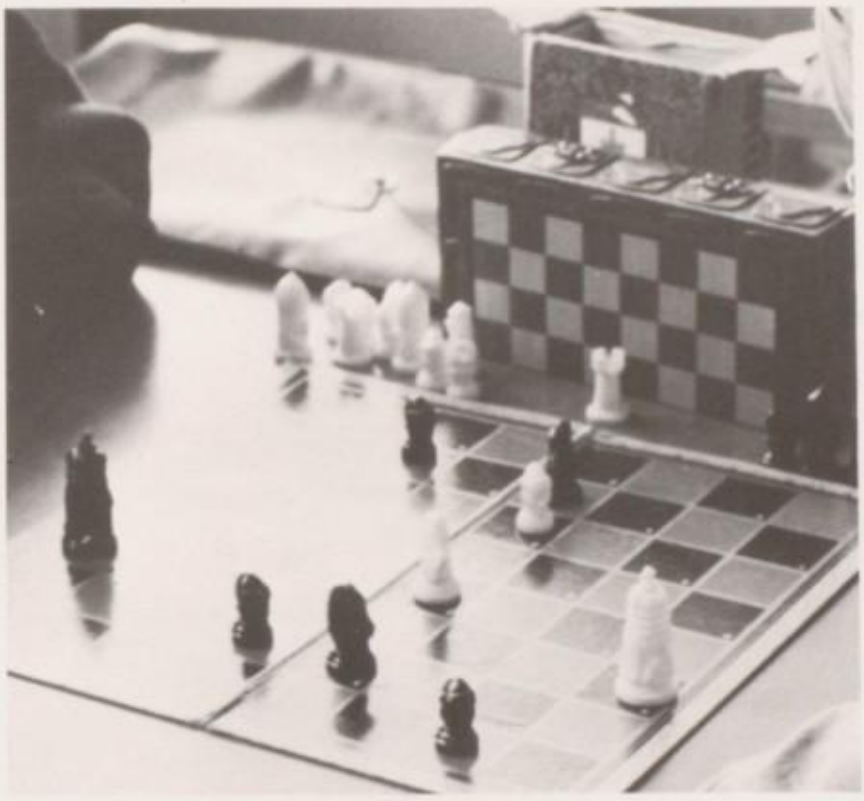
Three members of the Pep Club turn and smile at our camera as they hang signs in the cafeteria in preparation for the next days activities.

Each year a homeroom door decorating contest is sponsored by the Pep Club. This is just another way Hoover students show spirit.

Amature Radio And Chess Clubs

Amature Radio Club: Back; George Thomas, Kishore Villanki, Paul Shaw, Neil Gerren, Seated; Rob Whitaker, Dr. Koch (Advisor).

The Chess Club gives students the opportunity to test their acquired skills and knowledge at the game of Chess. Mrs. Doskocil, advisor, schedules matches throughout the school year. Amature Radio Club (A.R.C.), with advisor Dr. Koch, acquaints students with the working of ham radios.



Shown here are two members of Chess Club battling over another game to determine a victor.

Another member of Chess Club heavily concentrates before his next move.

Responsible Students Aid In Offices

Working as an Aid in the offices or in the library takes a special kind of person. One who is willing to volunteer his/her time to answer phones, run errands, page students, and do any other job which is needed. The Aids must be cooperative as well as accurate since they have many responsibilities.

Attendance Office Aids: Front-Tracy Russ, Janet Eastman; Back-Anne Jueneman, Sue Seanor, Cheryl Wieinski, Sue Faulkner, Diana Cooke, and Diane Smith.

Student Council Achieves Goals

Student Council plays an important role at Hoover High School. Its main function is to provide extra activities for everyone and serve as a liason between students and faculty. The officers run the meetings and oversee all activities with Mr. Mattachione serving as advisor. The council convenes regularly twice a month, and the various committees meet according to their scheduled activities. The different committee chairman and co-chairman positions are: Assembly: Jeff Patton and Scott Lauritzen, Dance: Katy Oby and Jeff Hodges, Public Relations: Alex Adkins and Mark Tobias, and Student Relations: Sharon Patrick and Laura Carr. They all work together to provide refreshing and entertaining things to do at Hoover.

The 1977-78 Student Council Officers were (l. to r.): (back) Secretary Cindy Ebinger and Vice President Stacey Smith, (front) President Colleen Hawkins and Treasurer Amy Moore.

Quill & Scroll

The 1978 International Quill and Scroll Banquet was held on Monday February 13th. The Yearbook class inducted six nominees while Journalism II, the staff of the Viking Views, inducted eight. Dinner was served at 6:30 at the Imperial House Motel, followed by the ceremonies, conducted by Viking advisor Miss SusanManly, and Viking Views advisor Mrs. Stephanie Scourfield. Persons unable to attend the banquet were Inductee Jeanette Baus, and Honor Inductee Sharon Satterfield, both members of the yearbook staff. Others attending the banquet were Jeff Bastl and Jim Preston of Mrs. Scourfield's Journalism I classes. Being inducted into the International Quill and Scorll is an honor bestowed upon junior and senior high school students. The program was started in 1926 in order for these students to be recognized.

We have pictured here in front of the lobby fireplace, all of the Quill and Scroll inductees for this year. They are: Standing- Chris Moffat, Joanne Canterbury, Carolyn Pickles, Brian Kaufman, Janice Ebert, and Michael Krigline, all of Journalism, as well as Jennifer Mylius of Yearbook. French And Latin Of '78

The fifteen members of the Latin Club for 1977-78, led by Mr. Larry Marchand, elected as officers, Vicki Wuchnick, president; Carol Demarco, vice-president; Amy Harper, secretary; and Karen Spratt, treasurer. Meeting in room 216 on the second Wednesday of every month, they organized trips for caroling, tobogganing and canoeing, along with a Roman play and a Roman Slave Day. The French Club, on the other hand, had many members returning from a summer bicycle trip through France with teacher Rex Spaulding and his two sons. Their play, the Bourgeous Gentelhomme was presented in February at the North Campus. Diane Gibbons, president of the French club; Sandy Rich, vice-president; and Sandy Olesky, secretary-treasurer were chosen by a vote of the fifty-six students in the organization.

German Club Is Made Up Of Many Things-Carnivals, Picnics, Gingerbread Houses, and Volkswagons(?).

This year's German Club continued many traditions, including the famed Spanish/German soccer game. The Germans tied the game, however, 1-1, but the rivalry still lingers on. Mrs. Stuchell brought her North Canton Junior High German students into club participation here for the first time, making for a large club and a successful year. Another tradition upheld by Frau Mary Ream and her vast following from both Hoover and the NCJH was the annual German food picnic. Held every year at Dogwood Park, it includes either a softball or soccer game, and multitudes of delicious German food, made and brought by the students and Frau herself. 1977-78 also saw the start of many things soon to become traditions. The German Carnival was welcomed by the students, and the endearing Gingerbread house in the display case won the hearts of all. Soccer, Gingerbread houses, and carnivals are all distinctly German, and so is a Volkswagon.

Spanish Club Has Various Activities

1977-78 Spanish Club officers clown on the swings in Witwer Park. They are: Steve Pittman, Debbie West, Tammy Wilmore, and Lisa Gonyias.

The Spanish Club has various projects over the course of the year. Under the direction of Miss Lisa Gaspet, they repeated a performance of last year by having a Christmas Party at the Ilg Nursing Home. They also organized the Valentine's Day Party preparations for which you see here. Mrs. Elaine Schriever, Spanish teacher, helped them put together a movie in February. The students also held a volleyball match against the French Club team. Many Hoover Spanish students have participated in these and many other events for several years, making and breaking language-oriented traditions, thereby leaving a definite mark.

Mr. Brockett Directs Semanon/WVHS

Semanon and WHVS are under the guidance of Mr. Thom Brockett again this year. Semanon refers to the backstage crew in charge of lighting and sound for all production at both campuses. The group was formed last year and has steadily improved with each performance they have participated in. The school radio station, WVHS, provides the morning announcements with disc jockies Sue Hill, Jeff Esmont, and Michelle Boylan. Music at lunch is provided by Mr. Brockett's Speech II students.

An FCA "Huddle"

Hoover High School's chapter of the Fellowship of Christtion Athletes is a strong and thriving body. The boys are led by Mr. Robert Berrodin in conjunction with officers Brad Moock, Mark Cerreta, Jeff Esmont, Scott Warburton, and Mike Weinsz. Their meeting take at 7:30 every Wednesday evening in at the South Campus, followed by a "huddle session" in the gym where they participate in athletic activities. During the year they also have guest speakers and movies. The most momentous event in the '77-'78 school year was the fact that Dan Shetler, a previous member of FCA. was honored in the summer issue of the offical FCA magazine. The club seems to have a solid future at Hoover based upon its very stable and successful past.

Although most of the guys are still participating in the huddle session, senior John Demarco seems more interested in waving to the girl with the camera.

Math-Science Takes A Fossil Hunt

Showing us how to do some very complicated figuring are this year's Math-Science Club officers Rob Hartman, Paul Shaw, and Ron Harrison.

DECA Strives For Perfection; Takes Awards

Hoover students and faculty are immensely proud of the Distributive Education members who have, year after year, proven their abilities in many areas. Business, industry, and public speaking are among the possible award categories. Winning in the competition this year were Loree Pinazza, Cheryl Cicci, Janice Hawk, Lori Farber, Karen Santelle, Bob Webster, Lynn Bethel, Adrienne Hensley, Cheryl Duraski, and Connie Schofield. The DECA class sold orange and black Hoover Vikings hats and mittens and also operated the Student Supply Store at the North Campus. All profits made from their business ventures finance trips to competition and field trips. They are also planning a summer leadership workshop for next year's members.

ACADEMICS

Carolyn Pickles, senior, is the new exchange editor of the "Viking Views" Here she types an article for our school's newspaper.

In Mr. Markovich's Oral Communication class, Bob Tannis takes a break from his speech to glance at the camera. This course is required for all sophomores.

English Offers Choice At Hoover

Hoover offers its students a wide variety of English courses from which to choose. Nine week courses range from Shakespeare Seminar to Twentieth Century World Drama. If students do not wish to take nine week courses, they may schedule the traditional one year english class. There are also classes to reinforce the basics of composition, grammar, and speech. Also included in Hoover's English program are journalism, which puts out the Viking Views, and yearbook, which puts together the Viking.

Seniors Lisa Santomen and Nadine Clark concentrate on completing their novels. Many elective english programs involve much reading and writing.

In the library, seniors Rob Hartmann and Wendy Holder concentrate on gathering information for their term papers. Composition 12 is a semester course for seniors.

Many students devote their time to making our yearbook a success. Here, sophomore Dana Werstler and junior Debbie Curtis work on completing their layouts for the deadline.

Languages Interest Students

Hoover offers a variety of languages to its students. Among these are Latin, German, Spanish, and French, Most of the programs include a basic knowledge of the language and some history of each respective country. Students benefit from exchange students who participate in Hoover's language programs. The exchange students are able to share many unique experiences with their American friends. Some students also have the opportunity to travel to Europe.

Many students study diligently in their German class. Here the students investigate grammer techniques as well as study the history of the German language.

In Mr. Spaulding's French two class, sophomores Jane Moore and Christy Lewis take a break from the lecture to glance at the camera. French classes at Hoover study culture as well as French Literature. Each year, the French classes also present a play.

Students in Mr. Spauldings French IV and French V classes take time from their regular classwork to participate in the annual French play.

Mrs. Ream is deep in thought as she explains the curriculum her students will follow. Mrs. Ream teaches German levels one through four at Hoover.

Mr. Marchand shares a humorous story with his Latin class. Students study the theory of the language which is the basis of all modern languages.

Gov't.:Then And Now

Through Hoover's History and Government programs, students learn of our country's struggles, conflicts, and victories. They explore the basic concepts of our economy, values, and beliefs. Government classes study the structure of our Constitution, and learn to figure income tax.

course for all seniors. Students learn the basic functions of our government system.

Mike Wuchnick and Tom Coduto, seniors, concentrate on understanding the day's lesson. Many senior classes require much studying to understand the dey concepts.

Senior students in Mr. Clarke's Government class relax for a few minutes at the end of the period.

Students Explore

The science program at Hoover High School has much to offer its students. The three major areas of study include Biology, Chemistry, and Physics. In Biology, pupils learn the basics of plant and animal life; they study cell structures, microbiology, and animal systems. Chemistry courses teach material ranging from chemical reactions and equations to some organic chemistry. Students may select Physics or Mathematical Physics if they choose to continue the study of science. Pupils learn to understand the kinctic theory and basic principles of electricity.

Chemistry lecture meets five days a week. The students learn the basics of chemistry in lecture and lab.

Sophomore Ken Seely eagerly examines algae through this microscope during biology lab. The use of microscopes is one of the fundamental skills learned by all biology students.

Students in Physics lecture class work on their physics problems. Studying physics requires much concentration and effort. This course aids students who plan to continue science studies. In Mathematical Physics students must have mastered their math skills in order for them to apply the skills to physics.

Physics lab teaches students the fundamental skills in applying the laws of Physics. There are many formulas to be investigated. Pictured here are Dave Dolvin, Mike Weinsz, and John Locker plotting the orbit of Mars from the data provided. Students learn how the planets are inter-related in the universe.

In Chemistry lab, juniors Barb Blohm and Tim Winafeld regulate the flame on their Bunsen Burner. Students must observe all safety precautions when working with open flames.

In Biology lab, sophomore John Arnold and his lab partners explore the internal systems of a fish. Dissecting is a major part of the laboratory work.

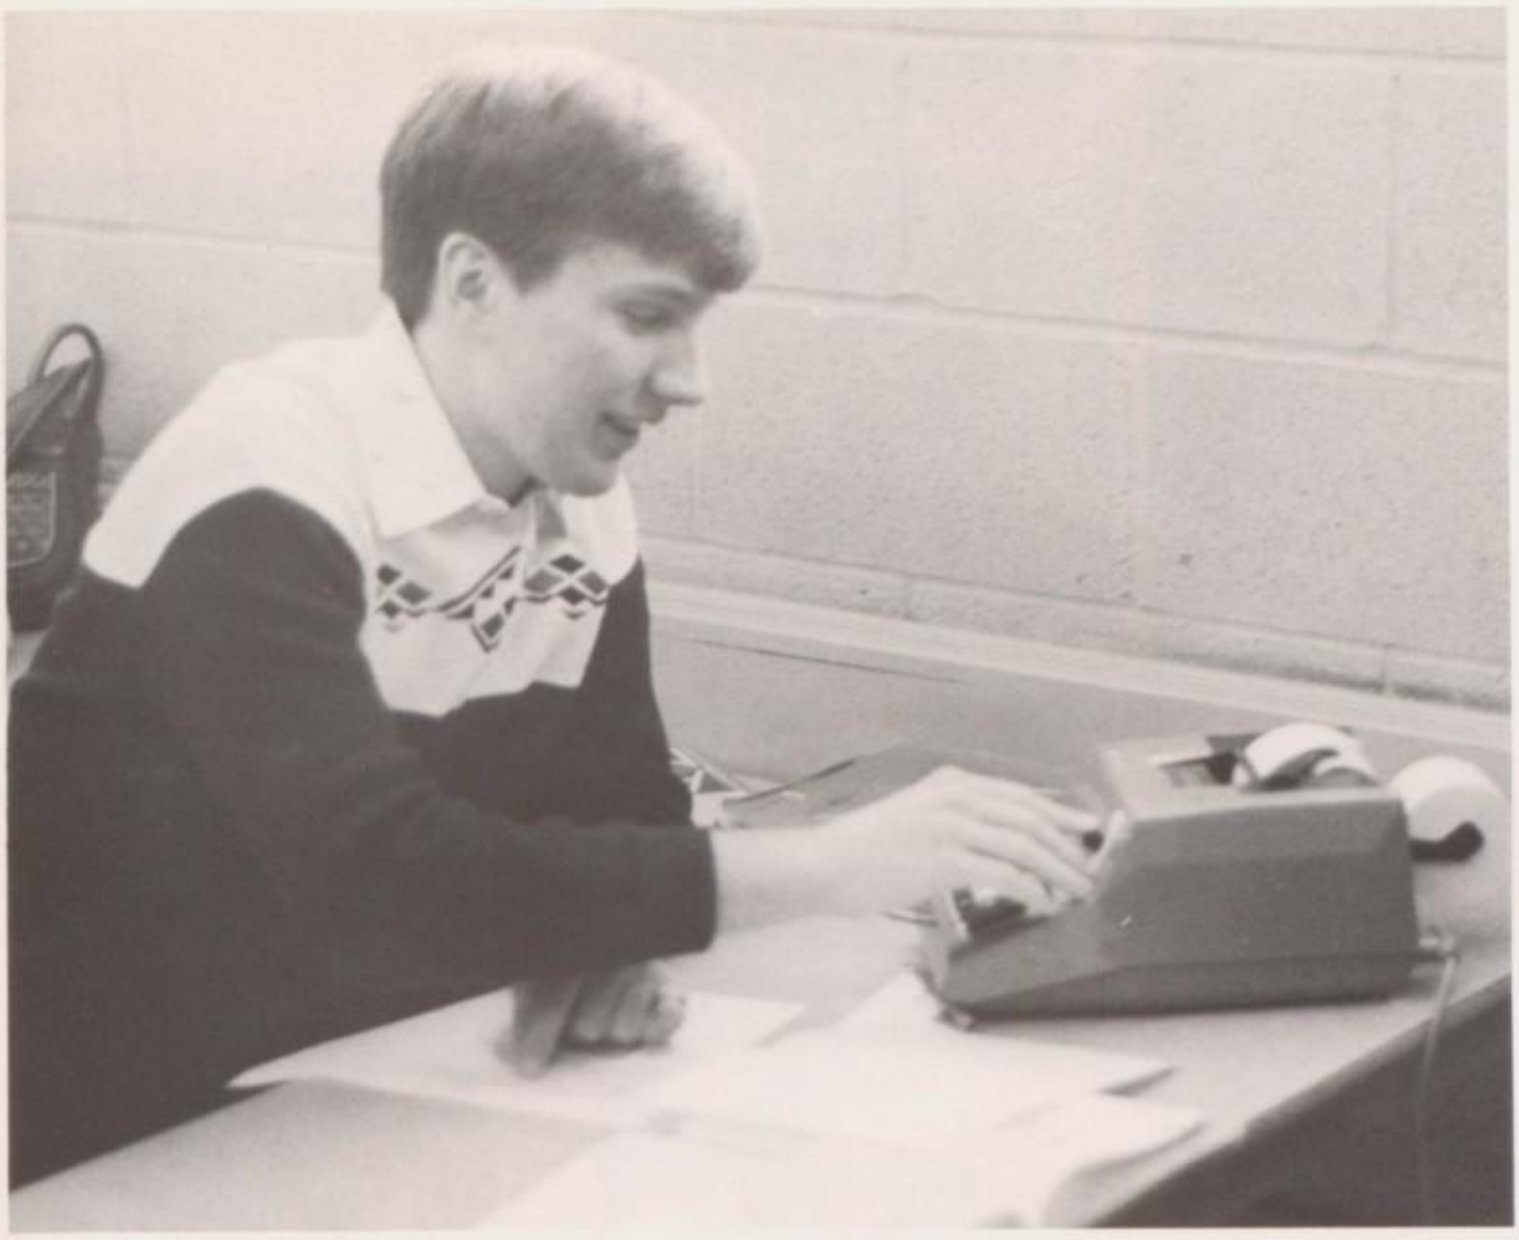
Students' Practice Skills

Math and Accounting skills are beneficial to students going on to college as well as those who choose to begin a career immediately. Hoover has an excellent mathematics program allowing students to participate in advanced programs. Accounting prepares students for further studies in bookkeeping and business management.

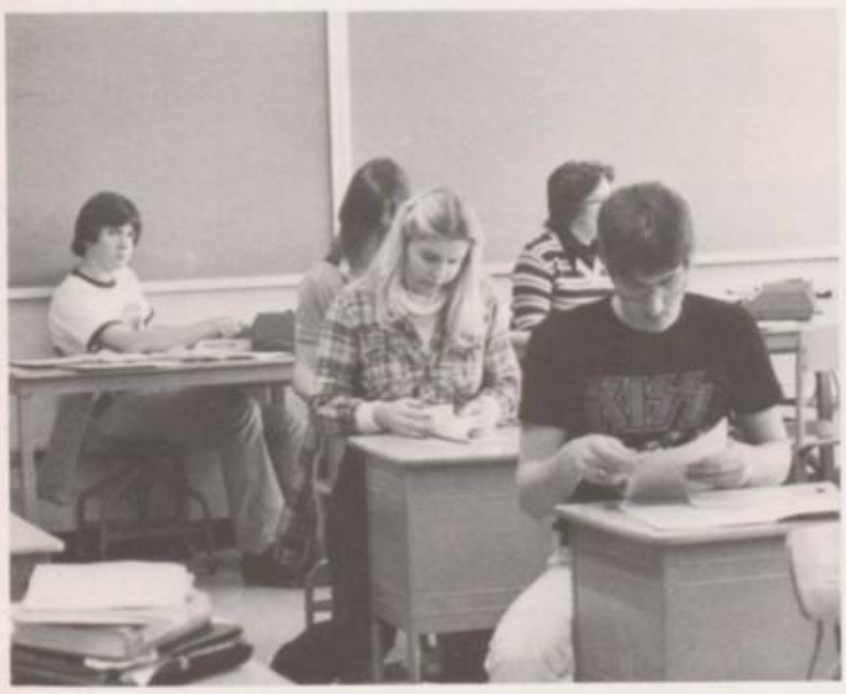
Senior Patty Covault concentrates on the practice set of her accounting work. Students must work hard to complete their assignments.

Junior and Senior students in algebra class study the fundamentals of mathematics. A good knowledge of the basics is necessary for further study.

Sandy Olesky, junior, and Pam Plasket, sophomore, seem very interested in what their teacher is saying.



Demonstrating the techniques of accounting and bookkeeping is senior, Bill Gould. Junior and senior students spend five days each week figuring and keeping records.



Senior Jeff Frausnight puts the finishing touches on his work before turning it in.

Students Show Talent

Students at Hoover have many ways of displaying their talents. Mr. Palmer and the art department are concerned with teaching the basics of art, as well as encouraging more experienced students to experiment in different techniques and styles. The choral department has three choirs under the direction of Mr. Charles Kidder. Students display their talents through concerts, musicals and art shows at Hoover. The elective programs provide pupils with the opportunity to increase their abilities and perhaps continue in these fields after high school.

The choir students put in many long hours of practice to prepare for their performances. A production requires time and effort of each member.

Paul Wood, senior, practices along with sophomores Alice Lavery and Sharon Hausenfleck. Talent and hard work compose Hoover's Orchestra.

This year's Girls' Glee Club consists of sophomores, juniors, and seniors who are willing to sing. The girls work hard to prepare for two major performances each year.

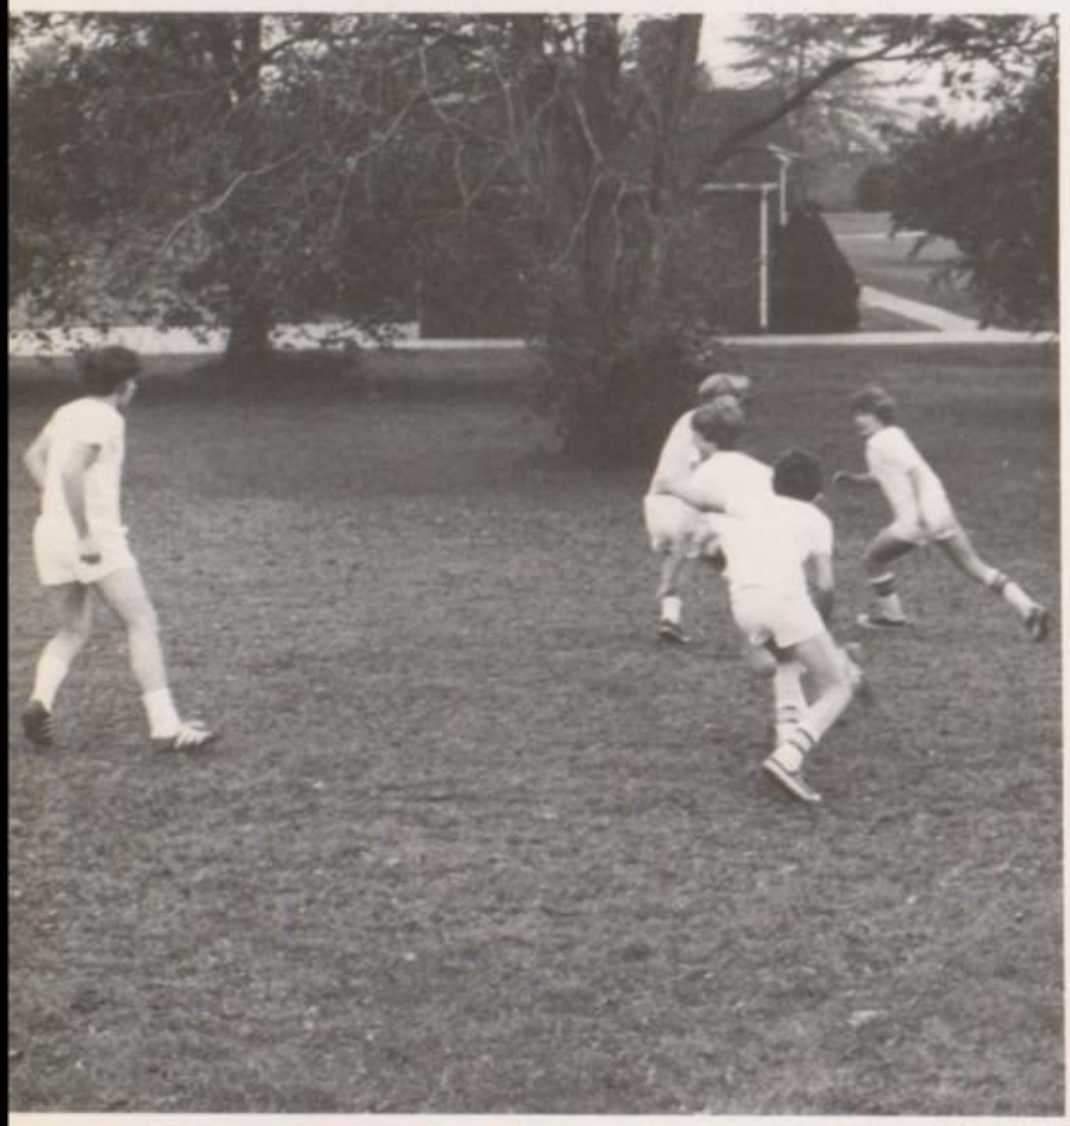
Lisa Hertzi, a junior, looks puzzled as she contemplates what to do next. Many juniors and seniors have the opportunity to display their ability through their artwork.

Mr. Palmer assists senior Bruce Humbert in beginning his art assignment. In Art IV, students work on various projects such as interior design.

Students Excel In Elective Courses

Elective courses at Hoover contribute much to the physical fitness and well-being of the students. The required gym class lets students actively take part in team and individual sports. Hoover also plays its part in educating drivers. And Home Economics provides pupils with knowledge which will greatly aid them in later life.



Outdoor sports compose much of the boys' gym class at Hoover. Here these sophomores play football.

Sophomores are required to take physical education for one semester. Here, the girls use the trampoline in their gymnastics unit.

Sophomore Lynn Lothamer goes to her car as the students prepare for a lesson in driving safety.

Seniors Bonnie Bush and Jill Stuffel work diligently to complete their Accounting and Computing assignments. Here students learn valuable skills.

In Accounting and Computing, Senior Bob Ulmschneider concentrates on the daily work that has been assigned. This course is one of many that is offered at the North Campus.

Office Procedures Aid Students

Students gather during their typing class period to discuss the day's assignment and tell jokes.

Office procedures are taught to the students participating in the following classes: Accounting and Computing I and II, Junior and Senior Secretarial, Junior and Senior Clerical and COE. The students are taught the basics of the course and then work on perfecting these skills. Accounting and Computing students work with office machines, data entry and programming equipment. The Secretarial and Clerical classes are taught office training skills and techniques. COE, Cooperative Office Education, is a course that offers an opportunity for many students to get a job after graduation.

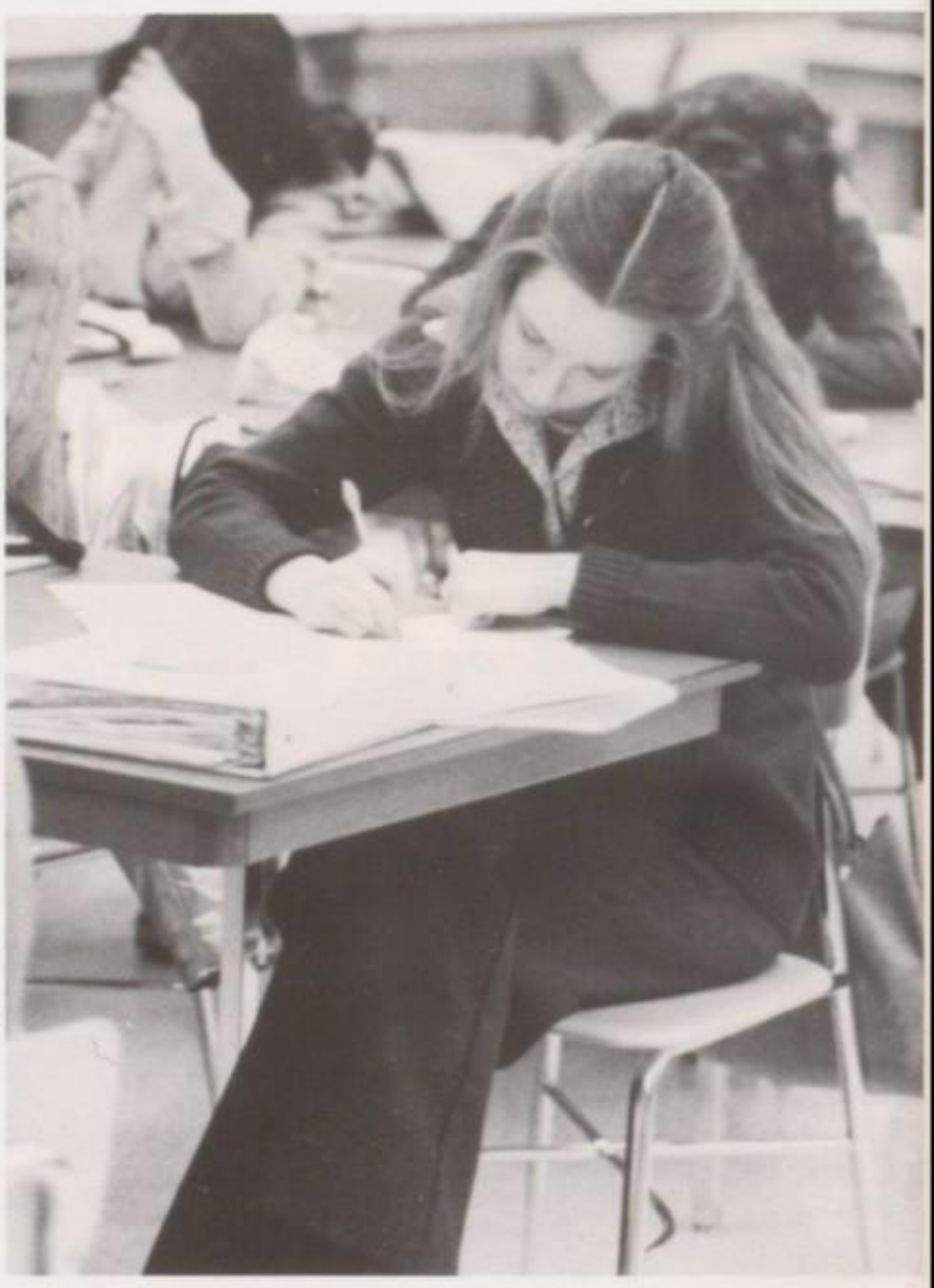
Seniors Darla Turner and Annette Alexander have been instructed in the use of office machines. Skills in typing and business English are essential.

Taking a blood pressure is an important skill the Diversified Health Occupations class must learn. Juniors Lori Marosell and Sharon Morgan are shown here practicing the technique. Each Student must perfect the skill in order for it to become useful.

Juniors Sue Toomey and Annette Altieri are shown giving CPR to Herbie. Herbie has a system by which lights will go if the student is doing the procedure correctly.



Classwork is an important factor to the Fabric class. Junior Charmaine Kutney is shown here studying the different fabrics and the best way they can be used.

Job Oriented Classes

These classes consist of Foods, Fabrics, DHO, Diversified Health Occupations, DCHO, Diversified Cooperative Health Occupations. The junior classes consist of at least four periods per day, which usually includes a lecture time. The senior classes are in school for a minimum of two periods per day. In the afternoons, the students work at class-oriented jobs.

Shown above is the DCHO class. The students have this class for two periods and usually come to the South Campus for government. They work in the afternoons in a health related job.

Food service teaches students how to prepare food in the correct way. Here two students are conversing on the best way to prepare the pieces of chicken.

Junior Dena Smith is taking blood from Junior Linda Everetts, while Tammy Moore observes. This procedure is titled a Hemotocrit.

The students in Industrial Electricity must all wear safety equipment, such as goggles. Senior Stuart Reed is shown here filing down a piece of metal for his project.

Senior Steve Baucom is in Woodshop at the South Campus. Students in this course choose what they will make and then are graded on the finished project.

Woodshop teaches students how to construct well-finished projects. Seniors Dave Miller and Bob Holland are hard at work on their job.

An unknown masked student is shown here sottering a pipe for Building Maintainance. This class works within the North Campus to help the janitors.

Students Improve Vocational Skills

Students from Building Maintainance and Industrial Electricity are taught to use safety equipment while working with the different equipment. The students work around the school improving the classrooms.

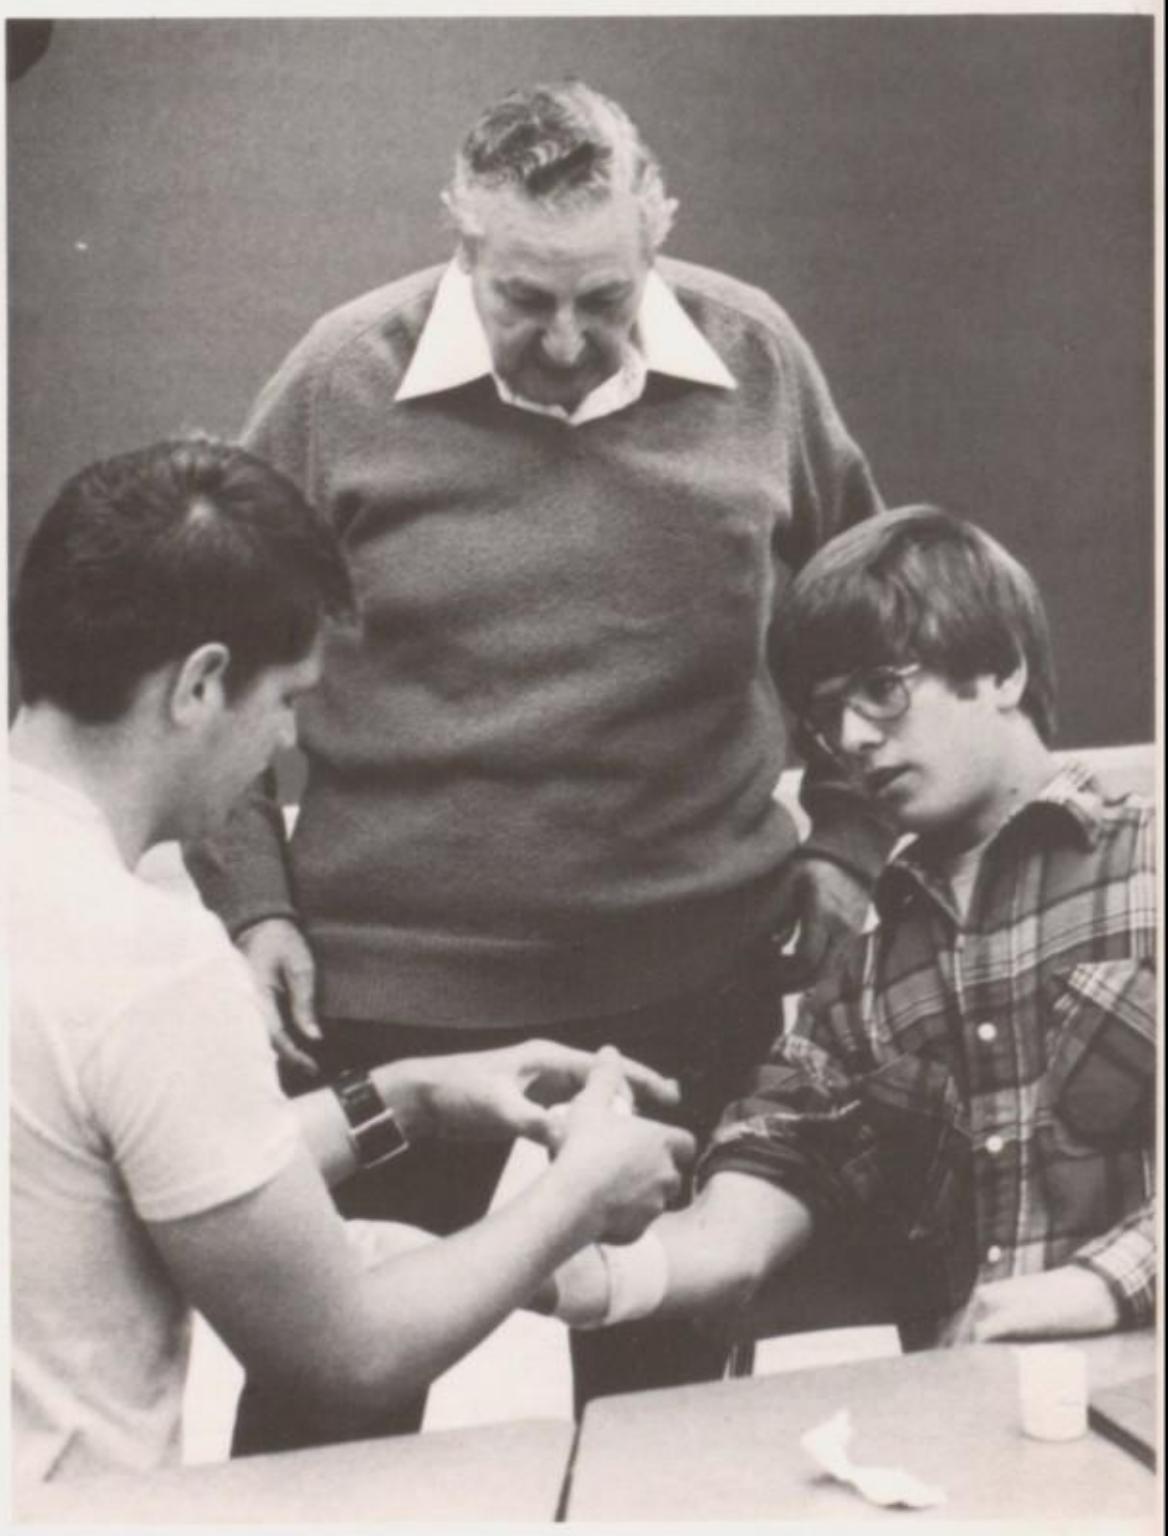
Vo-Ed Classes At Work

In Auto Body, students learn about fixing windows, air conditioning systems, body frames, and custom painting. Diversified Co-operative Training enables students to find a job immediately after high school. The students get academic credits and also have experience working out of school.

In DCT, a Diversified Cooperative Training program, Rich Michel is working hard to finish his classwork. The class consists of lecture and on the job training. They are taught certain skills which will improve their chances for job placement.

Mr. Daryl Sowers works hard on the next days assignment. He is the advisor-coordinator of DCT.



Jack Boan, a first-aid instructor, spends a few days with each class and teaches them first-aid for emergency situations. Here, Seniors Dale Hirschman and Rich Michel show their skills.

Junior Jerry Robinson is enrolled in Auto Body. This teaches students how to paint and keep the frame of a car in perfect shape.

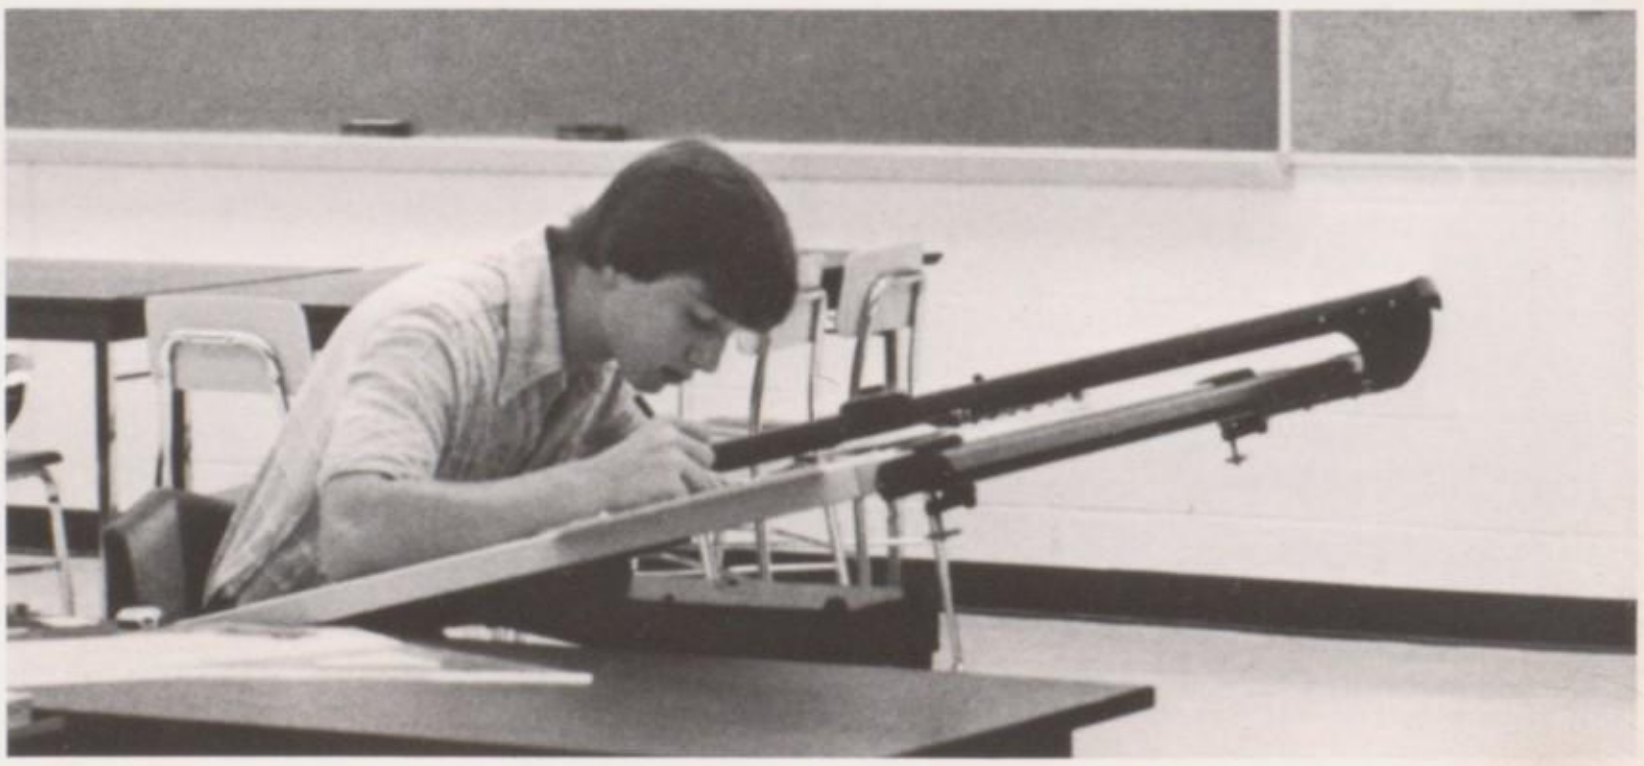
Senior Lisa LeBlanc is distracted from her classwork. DCT is a good course for students who would like to work right out of high school.

Auto Body teaches students how to fix cars to look better than ever. This student is replacing part of the front portion of this Ford Pinto. This course will help him apply his skills in an occupation outside of high school.

Vocational School: An Experience

The North Campus is in second year of teaching students vocational skills. Some of the classes enable students to have jobs immediately after graduating. Some students use the vocational school as a learning experience and go to college to expand their knowledge.

By taking Drafting, it enables students to choose a career as an architect of an engineer. Here, Senior Eric Hardgraves works steadily to complete his drafting project.



Junior Tom Whieldon is working hard on his classwork. This course enables students to learn the basic skills for constructing a building. After each of the students finish their work, they have time to relax and talk.

Senior Tom Grubb observes the printing press. In the print shop, the students are taught how to print newspapers, magazines, and so on. They are also taught what different sizes of print to use.

Tools, such as the one Senior Tom Schroeder is using, are a vital part of the drafting course. Each student learns how to use the tools correctly.

Senior Mark Garber works on his project. The small engines class teaches students how to fix smaller engines such as a lawn mower.

Junior Terry Haverstock concentrates on her OWE project. These students are taught what the employer expects from them.

OWE, Occupational Work Experience, teaches students how to budget their incomes and the best way to use their money. Here Junior Tama Klodel is concentrating on what the teacher is explaining.

Experience Best Teacher

Media students work at their own speed to finish the assignments. The number of assignments done at the end of the grading period and how the students use the classtime makes up the 6-weeks grade. OWE is for Juniors and Seniors who enjoy going to school and working at the same time. These students have on-the-job training and classwork which deals with the same topics.

Junior Michael Wilson works dilagently to finish his project. Media I students are taught how to use filming equipment, silkscreening, and also improve their artistic talents.

Junior Lauri Gratny is using a newspaper advertisement and enlarging it to notebook paper size. This takes patience along with artistic talent.

Shown here is Junior Cal Reynolds. He is reading a pamphlet and debating on which project he should do next.

Hoover Students Show Varied Interests

The students at Hoover display their diversified interests through elective courses such as sociology or psychology, as well as through the work-study program classes. Regardless of which paths students elect to pursue, they must concentrate on their efforts and work hard. All these traits contribute to the students' educations.

Some students prefer to rest during their more exciting classes.

Mark Brozzetti and Ed Martin take a minute to relax and smile for the camera before class begins.

Many typical questions are asked of VIKING staff members throughout the school year such as; "Is the book going to be good?", "What color is the cover?", or "How many times did you put me in the book?" To all those students who have asked these questions and more, the staff would like to say, "Hope all your questions are answered because the VIKING has finally arrived!"

As Editor, I have found there is much more to a VIKING than just covers and pictures . . One might ask, "Just what does it take to produce a VIKING in 1978?" Well . . . to start with $14,000 and ideas, then ideas and $14,000! Second, dedicated students to work hard (not only during the scheduled class period but after school, Saturdays, and even Christmas vacations), earn the money, and bring ideas to reality. Students who have patience and understanding with Editors whose vocabulary is limited to "Are your layouts finished? We had deadlines to meet . . . last week!" or "What pictures didn't we get back?" Ah yes, to those students who remember those uptight moments I thank-you from the bottom of my heart. Thank-you for your co-operation, time, talents, efforts, and hard work. The VIKING could not have been produced without you! Also, a special thanks to Mr. Palmer and the Art Department for their added artistic abilities throughout the book. And last but not least whenever problems or advice was sought we turned to our advisor, Miss Manly, for guidance and support.

Since all the thank-yous have been given, I would like to close with a note to the Class of '78. Our lives will soon be changing. Our paths will be taking many different routes. I hope the VIKING meets your expectations and will always provide you with a fond memories of your years spent at Hoover High School.
